Current Events

HENRY FORD has bought a great tract of land in Florida, including a county seat, and a good many buildings. He gets wood for his cars from forests in the North. He will now, it is said, establish rubber plantations in Florida to supply material for his tires.

"From producer to consumer" is his motto.

WATCH FLORIDA. That one State, among forty-eight in this Union, will before many years have passed be a gigantic nation in itself.

ONE TASK in the United States is not neglected, and that's the job of burning up cigarettes. In April the factories turned out more than five thousand millions of cigarettes, and the output is constantly increasing. In four months this year the country smoked two thousand million more cigarettes than in the same period last year.

IF TO OTHER tasks young gentlemen devoted the concentration and careful attention and choosing that they devote to cigarettes, what a world this would be for accomplishment.

LATE DISPATCHES yesterday said that there is "the gravest concern in Washington" because the little Japanese Prince Regent has authorized his minister to protest violently against the United States exclusion of Asiatics.

Violent protest is based on the belief of the Japanese that there are knock-kneed gentlemen in Washington.

The action of public officials will let the Japanese know whether they are right or wrong about those knock-knees.

But it's only fair to let Japan know that politicians in office do not always represent the United States. If the Japanese think their protest will persuade this country that it hasn't a right to keep out Asiatics, as Australia and Canada keep them out, the Japanese are mistaken.

IT IS SUGGESTED that President Coolidge will veto the bill to raise the pay of postoffice employes, on the ground that "the nation can't afford it." The President would hardly say that. The nation CAN afford it, and it can't afford to treat faithful public servants meanly.

THE NATION supplies the President with a fine private yacht to go sailing, one that burns many gallons of oil and employs many men. If the nation can afford that for the President, who gets $75,000 a year besides, it can afford to pay living wages to the letter carrier, who pays for his shoes three times what he used to pay.

SECRETARY WILBUR of the navy says that Congress "must never have power to override Supreme Court decisions."

HYDE PARK VETS SPLIT ON PARADE

Three Organizations Refuse to March With G. A. R. Because of Row Over the Marshal

Three war veteran organizations in Hyde Park have refused to march in the G. A. R. Memorial Day parade at Hyde Park tomorrow.

Instead of marching behind the men who carried the flag to victory in the Civil War, these three organizations plan to hold a parade all their own.

The organizations which will hold their own parade are the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Hyde Park Post of the American Legion and the Spanish War Veterans.

According to the members of the three organizations the rift is an outgrowth of a complaint that the Spanish War eVterans have been making for years.

They say the Timothy Ingraham Post, G. A. R., has always given the affairs of the running of the parade into the hands of the Sons of Veterans.

The Sons of Veterans select the marshal for the parade. This the younger organizations say should be given to some of the other organizations, and it is in protest that they will not march.

This year the Sons of Veterans selected William J. Davis, a World War veteran, as marshal. The Legion post and the Veterans of Foreign Wars regard the complaint as that of the Spanish War Veterans, but they are going to stick by the latter organization.

An attempt is being made to settle the controversy and tonight a meeting of the younger organizations has been called to try to patch it up and join the forces in the parade tomorrow.

2 ALARM FIRE IN ROSLINDALE QUARRY

A two-alarm fire at the stone quarry of the William J. Barry Company, No. 439 Ashland avenue, Roslindale, today destroyed the stone crusher and spread through the adjacent woods. Loss is estimated at $15,000. Volunteers joined the firemen in fighting the flames in the woodland and the fire was halted only after a stubborn fight.

HER GUARDIANS SUED BY UNWANTED HUBBY

MRS. LILLIAN SOLLOWAY FINGER

Peabody High School senior says that her love for the New York man who married her secretly in Lynn last December waned when she contemplated life with a family, the head of which was a banana dealer. She apparently has a strong aversion for bananas although not objecting to the famous song about them. She is aiding her foster parents in their defence of her husband's alienation suit.

HOFFMAN IS GUILTY OF KILLING

New York, May 29.—Harry L. Hoffman, charged with the slaying of Mrs. Maud A. Bauer on a lonely Staten Island road, was found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury today.

The jury was locked up early in the morning after deliberating since 6:30 p. m. yesterday.

Hoffman, stunned at the verdict, collapsed into a chair, his head buried in his hands, as he comprehended the significance of the words of the jury's foreman. He remained in this position as County Judge Tiernan imposed sentence of from twenty years to life imprisonment in Sing Sing prison.

Hoffman, on his way to the prison van after sentence had been imposed, passed within a few feet of District Attorney Fach, and shrieked at him:

"Now you and your lying witnesses can divide up your reward. I am innocent and you know it."

He suffered an emotional collapse in his cell and cried aloud.

The conviction of Hoffman, a mo-

BANANA CRY SHATTERED ROMANCE

"Yes, We Have No Bananas," is a nice song, but who wants a banana pedler for a father-in-law," indignantly asks Lillian Solloway, nineteen-year-old Peabody High School senior, who was secretly wed to Harry Finger of New York last December.

Finger is suing his young bride's guardians, Mr. and Mrs. Max Korn of Peabody for $100,000 damages for alienating the affections of the young senior.

The girl is siding with her parents in the case.

Incidentally, the young bride revealed that her marriage to Finger was not the first affair of the heart she has had in her young life. She told how a year ago, her guardians sent her to Europe because they believed she was becoming too friendly with the family chauffeur.

"Finger painted a glowing picture of his big business, but it was only a dream and I want that marriage annulled," the bride of five months told a reporter between acts in the Peabody High School play presented at the Strand Theatre, Peabody.

"Four years ago, when I was a girl of fifteen, I first met Harry Finger. He was visiting relatives in Peabody and I'll admit he gave me a thrill at that time. I was just a youngster.

"Well, after a year or two he started to pester me. He told me of

WIFE BAILS TINNEY IN GIRL'S CASE

Comedian Denies 'Beating Up' Follies Actress After 'Suicide Party'

New York, May 29.—(I.N.S.)—The laughter and the smile faded from Frank Tinney's face when he was held in $2,500 bail today on a charge of feloniously attacking Imogene Wilson, 21-year-old Follies girl, who said she was in love with the married comedian.

Mrs. Tinney, who threatened to divorce him in 1921, but changed her mind, furnished bail.

The comedian said his wife had him thrown out of her automobile on Broadway Tuesday after the city was stirred with reports of a party at Miss Wilson's apartment during which she made an alleged effort to commit suicide over a break with Tinney.

The alleged attack was subsequent to the "suicide party." Miss Wilson's attorney said she was not able to appear because of her injuries. He said she would be there Saturday when the case was tried.

WARNED BY WIFE.

"I don't think she'll appear against me," Tinney said. "She is not as ill as she pretends." Tinney denied attacking the follies beauty, a former St. Joseph, Mo., girl.

"I don't feel like the Diamond Brothers (bank bandits under sentence of death for murder), or like Hoffman (convicted today of killing a woman), and have no intention of going to Europe over this affair," the comedian said.

Mrs. Tinney was in court when her husband was arraigned. She is the former Edna Davenport, musical comedy star. She said she felt sorry for Miss Wilson.

"What can a poor girl do when a man lies to her?" she asked. "Frank told her he was not getting along with his wife and she believed him. I saw Miss Wilson with my husband and warned her to stay away from him."

JOKES WITH POLICEMEN.

Tinney joked with the policemen before the arraignment and seemed to be enjoying himself. He looked glum when Edward V. Broderick, Miss Wilson's attorney, denounced him and asked the court to fix bail high.

"This man has left a trail of maimed women behind him," Broderick declared. "His latest victim is

LEVENSON WILLING TO BE JAILED

Says He'd Be Glad to Accompany Coakley and Corcoran if They Went

Harry E. Levenson would be pleased to go to jail with Daniel H. Coakley and William J. Corcoran, he said today in East Cambridge Superior Court, where Coakley and Corcoran are on trial on conspiracy charges.

He said it during an ironical exchange of personalities, with Coakley cross-examining.

"You don't want to go to jail, do you, Mr. Levenson, if you can help it?" Coakley asked.

"I'd be pleased to go with you, Mr. Coakley," Levenson retorted. Later he declared: "I would be ready to sacrifice myself to go to jail with you." He included Corcoran also.

The name of Judge Robert O. Harris, United States District Attorney, was injected into the trial today during Coakley's cross-examination of Levenson.

Levenson declared he did not believe Judge Harris controlled his office. In a conversation with Assistant District Attorney Bushnell of Middlesex County, the witness said, he asserted that "somebody got Gallagher into the office down there through a deal and that the office was straight before that time, but since then has been crooked.

Levenson also told Bushnell, he said, that "as far as I knew Gallagher and Shea seemed to control the liquor situation in the Federal Court. I told him I knew some cases looked suspicious.

The biggest crowd in the case thus far wedged its way into the trial today.

MORE FIREWORKS

There were more would-be spectators turned away today than at any day so far during the trial. All were eager for a chance to hear Coakley cross-examine Levenson.

The testimony was again enlivened by tilts between Coakley and Levenson which District Attorney Reading constantly objected to and Judge Whiting repeatedly ordered stopped.

Q.—Mr. Levenson, I understand that in your answer relative to a conversation you had with Corcoran touching the projected raid on Mishawum Manor, you said that Corcoran said Coakley had arranged for the raid. Is that right? A.—No.

Q—What did you say? A—I said I couldn't tell who arranged the raid, that is with the police of Woburn. Corcoran arranged with Brownie Kennedy, I said.

Q—Didn't you say that in your first conversation with Corcoran he told you Coakley had arranged or would arrange with the Woburn police? A—No.

Q—Was Mishawum Manor, as you understood it at the court hearing in Woburn raided as a disorderly house? A—I understood it was.

Q.—Did it appear at the trial that the raid was for liquor? A.—I believe so.

Q.—Did you hear any testimony to the effect that the raid on this house was made as on a disorderly house? A.—Not that I recollect.

Q.—What was the date of the Brand case? A.—I don't know.

Q—Do you recall saying anything about fixing a jury? A—Yes.

Q—Were you in a Boston court

Methodists Vote Down Drastic Change in Divorce Law

Springfield, May 29.—A proposal for a drastic change in the divorce law of the Methodist Episcopal church was defeated by ten votes at the closing session of the general conference. The vote was 300 for adoption to 310 against.

The present law forbids ministers to marry a divorced person when the husband or wife is living, unless that person be the innocent party in a divorce for unfaithfulness.

The change would have legalized all marriages except those of guilty parties in divorces for that cause.

The conference adjourned at noon following a stirring address by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston, in which the proceedings of the conference were reviewed.

BRAVES GAME WITH PHILLIES STARTS AT 3

The league-leading Red Sox were playing the Athletics over in Philadelphia today, while the Braves were assaulting the lowly Phillies at the Wigwam here.

The game started at 3 o'clock, as the Braves have to make an early jump for Brooklyn, where they play a double-header tomorrow.

The Sox, who have proved they can win close, tight games, as well as slugging matches, have grimly hung on in the first-place tie at the top of the league. They are more than likely to win any of these days, while the Yankees take a beating, and thus put Boston in sole possession of the pinnacle.

The Fenway team comes home tonight, and plays a double-header with the Senators on the native Back Bay pasture tomorrow afternoon. They also tackle Washington Saturday, and then depart for their first swing through the West. Meantime the Braves, who are only four games from first place, will play all the Westerners here.

ACCUSED IN CAMBRIDGE HOLDUP

Edward J. McCormack and Another Man Seized as Accessories in $15.000 Theft

Edward J. McCormack, said by Cambridge police to be a brother of State Senator John W. McCormack of Boston, was arrested and arraigned in East Cambridge court today as an accessory to the $15,000 holdup of Bank Messenger Herbert Hume in Cambridge Tuesday.

McCormack was arrested with Thomas E. Davies, 22, of No. 14 Magnolia avenue, Cambridge, as the pair were about to keep an appointment with George Williams, owner of the taxicab used in the holdup, according to the police.

It is charged that McCormack is the man who borrowed the automobile from Williams and that yesterday he made an appointment to meet Williams in East Cambridge.

Police say McCormack arranged to meet Williams for the purpose of offering the taxicab man $1,000 to "keep his mouth shut."

In East Cambridge court charges of being accessory before and after the fact were brought against McCormack. He was held in $15,000 bonds.

Davies was held in $10,000 on a charge of being an accessory after the fact. He is not thought to have had anything to do with the actual hold-up.

There is no one in the employ of the Commonwealth whose duty it is to sell the advantages of the port of Boston to shippers. Yet millions have been spent on establishing the "plant".

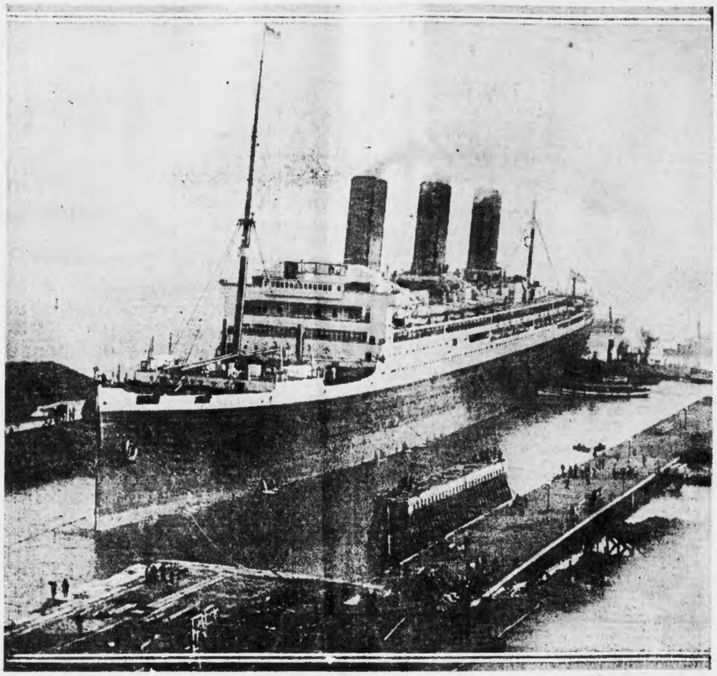
BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1924

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

If all New England got behind the movement to boom Boston shipping, the port would take its place as second to New York by a margin so wide as never to be threatened.

All New England Should Get Behind Movement to 'Sell' Port of Boston's Advantages to Shippers of World



Boston harbor is broad, sheltered, deep channelled and has sixty square miles of safe anchorage. From the furthermost piers to the open sea is only nine miles. Nine miles of broad, deep, safe channels. The facilities of the port are not surpassed anywhere, nor in many respects equalled in the United States. Its biggest drydock is the only one in either Europe or America that can accommodate the giant liners of the Majestic-Leviathan type. Its ship repair facilities are equal to any task which modern shipping may demand of them. The photograph shows the giant steamship Majestic easing into the Commonwealth Drydock at Boston, where the palatial liner underwent a thorough cleaning and scraping of the hull and sides.

The Boston American's Minute Man editorial of last week attempted to show how certain industrial interests in New England were taking advantage of the seaports in this region, particularly the great port of Boston. Also how other interests could use the facilities of these ports to their own and the community's advantage.

This week the Boston American wants to specialize on the great "natural" port of Boston, pointing out its advantages to shippers and offering a suggestion to Massachusetts taxpayers, who have an investment of upwards of $20,000,000 in its shipping facilities.

Recently a United States government report, setting forth the results of a survey of the country's seaports, stated:

"Boston is one of the most important ports in the United States, considered from both its facilities and the extent and value of its commerce."

It is all of that, and more.

Historically, it is the birthplace of America's foreign commerce. For many years after the settlement of Boston it was the ranking port of the American colonies. After it had yielded place to New York, it remained the second port in the country, and still holds that place in the matter of import tonnage.

Physically, it is one of the six great natural seaports of the United States. Harbor engineers refer to ports which combine geographical and topographical advantages in a marked degree as natural ports.

Boston is nearer to the Suez and Panama canals, nearer to the great ports of Europe, nearer to East coast ports in South America and nearer to Mediterranean and Near East ports than New York. It is as near to the points where grain and flour and packing house exports originate in the central States—these being the principal exports of America—as New York.

The harbor is broad, deep sheltered, deep channelled and has sixty square miles of safe anchorage. From the furthermost piers to the open sea is only nine miles. Nine miles of broad, deep, safe channels. The facilities of the port are not surpassed anywhere, nor in many respects equalled in the United States.

Its biggest drydock is the only one in either Europe or America that can accommodate the giant liners of the Majestic-Leviathan type.

Its ship repair facilities are equal to any task which modern shipping may demand of them.

Each of its three great railway systems have fast terminal facilities for quick handling of both inward and outward cargo.

Freight trains run onto the piers, a few feet away from the hatches of ships in the docks alongside. The port has long had an enviable reputation for quick turnovers of cargo. The Union Freight and Grand Junction Railways enable freight cars on one of the big railway systems to be quickly and easily switched to the ship terminals of each of the other systems.

The piers and wharves of the harbor number 203, great and small, ranging from the Army Base pier in South Boston, with a full mile of docking space, to small privately owned lumber and coal wharves in the tributary streams flowing into the harbor.

The taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts have an investment of $20,921,039.50 in Boston harbor. This great sum has been spent on piers, the big dry dock, filling in harbor flats, and otherwise improving the natural advantages of the port.

Yet there is no one in the employ of the Commonwealth whose duty it is to sell these advantages to shippers. Little ports like Charleston, South Carolina, and Galveston, Texas, have representatives in all of the big points of origin for American exports endeavoring, and succeeding, in interesting big shippers in their ports.

Montreal, which is ice free only six months in the year, employs agents to solicit business for that port.

Massachusetts has spent $1,654,369.85 on Boston harbor proper, $2,623,652.96 on the East Boston flats, $6,598,287.24 on the South Boston flats, $4,063,187.49 on Commonwealth Pier No. 5, South Boston, and $1,118,570 on the Commonwealth Pier No. 1, East Boston. It spent $3,164,651.15 on the South Boston Drydock, acquired by the navy during the war. Lesser sums have been spent elsewhere in the harbor.

The United States has spent $13,838,751 on channel improvements in the harbor and its tributaries, the Mystic, Malden, Neponset, Weymouth Fore and Back rivers.

The War Department spent approximately $27,000,000 in erecting the great Army Bases Pier in South Boston, which is now in the hands of a Boston corporation and used to accommodate ocean commerce.

The Navy Department has spent other millions on port improvements, available to the merchant marine.

What private interests have spent, including railroads and other public service corporations, sugar refineries, fishing interests, coal companies, etc., cannot be computed. It will run into scores of millions, if not into hundreds of millions. The Boston & Albany Railroad spent $5,000,000 improving its East Boston terminals just before the war. The Boston & Maine Railroad has two big terminals on the Charles and Mystic rivers on which many millions have been spent. The New Haven Railroad also has a costly terminal in South Boston.

There are three big grain elevators in the port, with combined capacities for 250,000,000 bushels of grain.

Yet there is nobody whose duty it is to tell the world about this great establishment. We need men who can talk the language of the traffic world to do it.

Of course, the steamship lines and railroads have enterprising agents out soliciting business, but each is pulling for his own line or road.

The need is for capable, energetic, alert agents to go out and sell the port of Boston to the packing houses, the grain exporters, the flour mills, the cotton gins, the lumber mills and the steel mills.

These men should be able to tell shippers when their goods could leave Boston for Liverpool. Not when it could leave on a Sprague ship, or a Cunarder, or any other particular line.

They should be able to help the shipper route his export freight to Boston, without reference to any particular railway.

According to th[illegible]reau of research of the United States Shipping Board, Boston ranked as the ninth in the United States in the volume of its foreign commerce. It was second in imports and twenty-second in exports. In 1923 Boston jumped into fifth rank, being exceeded only by New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia and Baltimore in total tonnage.

This upward trend in rank is partly due to newly organized agencies for encouraging shipping at this port, but in a much greater degree it is due to the natural advantages of Boston, which will not be denied.

Ocean commerce naturally gravitates to Boston.

What would happen if all New England got behind the movement to boom shipping here? Answer: The port would quickly take its accustomed place at the head of the secondary ports of the United States by a margin so wide that its rank would never again be threatened. New York will always be the port of first rank in America, for the same reason that Boston should always be second, viz., its natural advantages.

It is true that Boston shipping is throttled by unfair rail rate differentials, which put a premium on shipping through Baltimore, Philadelphia, New Orleans and lesser ports to the southward. These rates should have been abolished years ago. But with them in force the port of Boston raises its rank from ninth port to fifth port in one year.

If earnest, sustained, determined efforts on the part of New England business, New England's senators and representatives in Washington, and other New England men in high position were made, these rates could be abolished. The matter has been before the Interstate Commerce Commission for a year or more.

The justice of our claim is beyond cavil. New England men in Washington should raise such a tumult on Capitol Hill that the whole country would ring with it. And they would, too, if the people back home showed some interest in it.

Shortly there will arise on the Mystic River marshes a big blast furnace for the production of pig iron. When the project was first announced it seemed chimerical. It was asked: How can Boston, far from the coal and iron mines, compete in the production of pig iron with communities having these raw materials at their door?

But the proposition is not the wild dream of some enthusiastic promoter. It was born in the brains of business men who studied every phase of it before making a decision.

This new industry will be due, primarily, to the natural advantages of Boston harbor. The New England Fuel & Transportation Company, one of the great Boston corporations, manufacturing illuminating gas in large quantities in Everett, is back of it. As a by-product it produces large quantities of excellent metallurgical coke. This coke it has hitherto marketed with difficulty.

The company already owns a fleet of big colliers and a fleet of harbor and bay tugs. These fleets can be enlarged economically at the present time, due to the number of idle ships that are for sale.

Iron ore can be brought here from Spain, Cuba and other foreign mines at costs not greatly in excess of lake transportation. The harbor is not closed for many months in the year as the lake ports are.

The third raw material used in smelting iron, limestone, can be obtained in the nearby harbors of Maine.

The new blast furnace plant will start producing at the rate of 150,000 tons of merchant pig iron a year. But it will be so designed that other furnaces may be added from time to time, and those who are interested in it feel certain that eventually they will be exporting pig iron from Boston.

At present the company will endeavor to give New England industries a high grade of pig iron. The stove foundries of Taunton, Wakefield and elsewhere, the big electrical works at Lynn and the shoe machinery works in Beverly, and smaller foundries everywhere in this community will find a supply of pig iron almost under their hand. Long freight hauls will be eliminated. Delays due to freight blockades, etc., will be avoided.

Even the great metal industries of Springfield, Pittsfield, Holyoke, Greenfield, Miller Falls and other points in the Connecticut valley will find a much nearer market than Youngstown, Ohio, or Buffalo, N. Y.

Providence, New Bedford, New London and other communities will be able to obtain pig iron by water transportation, if the project of a motor barge line to these ports, now talked of, materializes.

Ship repair and fuelling are important features in any port's equipment. Boston is especially well provided for in these matters.

There are eight drydocks in the harbor, five owned by private interests and three by the Navy Department. The latter are available to merchant shipping that cannot be accommodated in smaller drydocks.

There are several ship repair and shipbuilding plants. The two largest, the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation plant on Weymouth Fore River and the Atlantic Works in East Boston, are equipped for jobs of any magnitude.

The seized German liners which were reconditioned after the war were parcelled out to various ports for reconversion from transports into ocean liners. The George Washington was allocated to Boston.

It is admitted that the George Washington was turned back to the Shipping Board in better condition than was the case in any other of the liners, and that she has given less trouble by reason of machinery breakdowns, faults in steam piping and plumbing or for any other cause than has any of the ships which were repaired elsewhere.

The George Washington is a monument to New England mechanical skill and thoroughness.

It is also worthy of comment that the cost of reconditioning the George Washington was less than that of other ships on which an equal amount of work was done.

Furthermore, the big ships which were allocated to other ports had to be brought to Boston in the end for drydocking and underbody repairs.

The Standard Oil Company, the Beacon Oil Company and the Mexican Petroleum Corporation all maintain big oil plants in Boston harbor. The oil comes here in tankers with capacities of one to two million gallons each.

At all times there is a more than adequate supply of fuel oil for ships, with equipment for rapidly filling fuel tanks.

There are four big coal companies equipped for bunkering coal-burning ships. Recently 4,000 tons of coal were stored in the bunkers of a big passenger liner in one day at the Commonwealth Pier in South Boston. The coal goes alongside in lighters which are specially equipped for swift work. Coalheavers swarm into the bunkers and the coal goes aboard in steady stream.

This article has merely skimmed the surface of the facilities for handling shipping at Boston. It is, of necessity, a generalization of the whole subject. The export shipper who reads it may say: "How about my particular needs? What can be done about the special service which New York affords me?"

The Boston American answers that it is more than likely that Boston can give him as good service as New York and save him time and money while doing it. For technical details write to the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Of one thing the shipper may be certain. If he combines with other shippers having similar needs, and will make them known, Boston will supply them.

If importers can use the port profitably, is it not reasonable to assume that exporters can also profit themselves by using their home port?

In the final analysis of the situation it all comes down to profit. If the port cannot be used with profit to the business of the community, and for the convenience of the people, it would be better to extend the Charles River esplanade clear around the city to Dorchester bay and turn the piers and docks into playgrounds.

Dr. Crane's article is on Page 13. The Help in Hand is on Page 20.

where Judge McLaughlin presided where you said something about jury fixing and Judge McLaughlin thought it necessitated taking the case from the jury?

WHOLE STORY

Levenson started to reply, but upon the objection of Reading the question was excluded.

Q.—Do you remember testifying yesterday, Mr. Levenson, concerning the conversations which you had with Attorney General Hurwitz on the day you changed your plea? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you remember testifying that you were going through and tell everything, tell about the jury fixing methods of Boston and how they were using religion as a cloak to hide behind, that you were going through to the limit and did not want a cent? A.—Yes.

Q.—You have made certain statements in the district attorney's office in this court house, haven't you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Your statement to Mr. Hurwitz then embraced your whole story, didn't it? A.—As far as I could remember it.

Q—Was your conversation with Corcoran about the time of the Mishawum Manor case? A—No, it was two years before.

Q.—Repeat what conversation you had with Corcoran about the Heck matter. A.—I told Corcoran I understood that a large sum of money had been obtained from a Providence manufacturer who had been shaken down. I said I'd like some of the money and Corcoran said: "Don't you know that when Heck gets any money he keeps it, and when Coakley gets any money he keeps it, that when I get any money I keep it and if you don't like that plan you can get out. He said that primarily we must keep ourselves out of trouble."

Q.—Now didn't you state in your testimony yesterday in relating this incident that there was a "common purpose" between us? A.—I may have.

"COMMON PURPOSE"

Q.—Now, don't you know as a lawyer that the words "common purpose" which you left out of your testimony today were most important in establishing conspiracy?

District Attorney Reading—I object.

Q.—As a lawyer and a man who has been in consultation, don't you know that it was necessary to show a common purpose and design before this case could go to a jury? (Question excluded.)

Q.—Didn't you and Mr. Reading have an agreement that you should use the words "common purpose" in your testimony? A.—I did not and you know it.

Q.—In your conversation with Hurwitz, Reading and Bushnell wasn't it agreed that you should use the words common purpose in your testimony in order to show a common purpose and desire? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't you say to Hurwitz and Reading that you were going through? A.—I don't know what you mean by through.

Q.—Well, I will use your own language then. Didn't you say you were going through to the limit and testify that Corcoran and Coakley had a common purpose and desire? A.—No.

Q.—I will now read from your testimony of yesterday showing that you used the word going the limit. Didn't you use that word? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did you mean by going the limit as distinguished from going through? A.—I meant that I was going to sacrifice myself, including my friends, by telling the truth, and I did.

Coakley showed Levenson a paper from which he read the date, December 1, 1922.

Q—Is that the date Ponzi was found not guilty? A—According to that.

Q—And you came to see me the following Saturday? A—Yes.

Q—Well December 1 was a Friday, then you came the following day? A—No, I'm sure it was not the next day.

Q—In yesterday's records you say you came to see me about the Linegar case. Had you been convicted then? A—No, I never saw you about it after I was convicted.

Coakley devoted considerable time interrogating Levenson concerning the date of his interview with Coakley following the Ponzi trial.

Q—You have testified that it was on the Saturday following the conclusion of the Ponzi case haven't you? A—Yes.

"IN THE PLAY"

Q.—In a conversation with Mr. Reading prior to taking the stand did you say you would testify to a conversation with Coakley and with Corcoran, either separately or together and use the phrase "common purpose or design?" A.—I may have.

Q.—You said on the witness stand "Tufts was in the play." What did you mean? A.—I recall it was in reference to the Mishawum and Stearns cases.

Q.—Well what did you mean by "in the play"? A.—I meant he was a co-conspirator.

Q.—Now you use the expression "cut in on the money." Or words to that effect. What did you mean? A.—That's a slang phrase.

Q.—You said yesterday you were not interested at all in a promise of immunity? A.—Not in this case.

Q.—Is it because you are not going to live long anyhow that you are not interested in immunity? A.—That's one of the reasons.

Q.—How long have you been on the edge of death? A.—On and off for five years.

Q.—You have no illness during the two months you have been aiding the district attorney on this case six days a week? A.—I was sick but came just the same.

Q.—You understand that the promise of immunity from Hurwitz, the assistant attorney general had the effect of a promise from the attorney-general. A.—I think so.

GO TO JAIL

Q.—Didn't you know that that promise was binding on Mr. Reading? A.—Yes I know that.

Q.—Did you talk with the [illegible]ey general about immunity in the case of your sentence of two years in the Linegar case? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't Reading or Bushnell tell you they conferred with your lawyer whether a way could be devised to obtain you a new trial in that Linegar case? A.—No.

Q.—Is either George L. Mayberry or Lowell Mayberry counsel for you before the Supreme Court in the Linegar Case? A.—Lowell Mayberry.

Q.—Are you willing to waive your privileges to let him come here to tell what he said to the district attorney about that case? A.—No.

Q.—You don't want to go to jail do you, Mr. Levenson, if you can help it? A.—I'd be pleased to go with you, Mr. Coakley.

Q.—You would love to go to jail with me, Mr. Levenson, wouldn't you? A.—I would be ready to sacrifice myself to go to jail with you.

Q.—And that's how much you hate me, isn't it, Mr. Levenson?

Levenson replied with a tinge of sarcasm: "Don't try to act as if you were on the stage Mr. Coakley."

Q.—You don't want to go to jail unless you go with me, do you, Mr. Levenson? A.—No, and Corcoran also.

Q.—Oh, of course, Corcoran too! A.—He isn't in jail yet.

SORRY FOR HIM

Q.—You mean that you are now referring to Mr. Corcoran? A.—Yes.

Q.—Are you willing to go any distance within the law, Mr. Levenson? A.—Yes.

Q.—So that overnight your hatred has grown so that you are willing even to go to jail with me? A.—I am sorry for you.

Q.—Because of the exhibition I have put up in examining you? A.—No.

Q.—In cross examining you? A.—No, in some things, I am sorry for you.

Q.—And you now wish to change it? A.—Yes, I think there was more than one day between. It may have been the following week.

MEMORY TRAINING

Q.—It may have been eight days then? A.—Yes, the following week.

Q.—Is your memory good, Mr. Levenson? A.—At times. It depends on the time and incident.

Q.—You testified that you had been studying memory and training it from the time you were three years old? A.—Yes.

Q.—Didn't you testify there were two indictments and four counts against you in the Cambridge case? A.—That is as I recalled it.

Q.—And I let you read the records for yourself and you found there were thirteen counts, didn't you? A.—Yes, but there was a mistake.

Q.—You don't charge up the extra counts to me? A.—No.

Q.—Since you came here to aid the government, did you talk with the district attorney or his assistants in regard to the matter in the United States courts in which you were possibly involved or they claimed you were involved? A.—No.

Q.—Did you talk with Mr. Bushnell about it? A.—Yes. I recall on one Sunday once with Bushnell and two or three times with Reading.

Q.—What was the conversation with Bushnell? A.—He told me he had heard Coakley sent Charlie Ginsberg and Lyons to the Federal Court to frame me. He asked me if I would talk regarding the case with a local man, meaning the United States District Attorney in Boston. I replied I would not. I said that somebody had got Gallagher into the office down there through a deal and that the office was straight before that time but since then has been crooked. I said I would not talk to anybody locally, but would talk to somebody from Washington, and I did.

Q.—And did he agree that Judge Robert O. Harris was crooked?

EX-JUDGE HARRIS

Judge Whiting—Not Judge Harris?

Coakley—No ex-Judge Harris, now United States District Attorney.

Q.—Well you told all you have testified to Mr. Bushnell? A.—That's right.

Q.—Now ex-Judge Robert O. Harris was United States District Attorney for the district of Massachusetts at the time you said that, wasn't he? A.—That's right.

Q.—Mr. Bushnell agreed to what you said about him? A.—Mr. Bushnell agreed to the general conversation. He did not agree that Harris was crooked.

Q.—What was said in regard to Gallagher as United States attorney? A.—I told him as far as I knew Gallagher and Shea seemed to control the liquor situation in the Federal Court. I told him I knew some cases which looked suspicious. I said I would not have anything to say about it locally. I wanted a clean job.

Q.—Harris is in charge down there, isn't he? A.—No.

Q.—Doesn't Harris control? A.—I don't believe so.

Q.—Bushnell agreed to that? A.—He did not agree to it, but he took my word for it.

Q.—Did Mr. Reading say that he had been to the United States Court in your interest to see some one of the officials there? A.—No.

Q.—You never learned from him that either Reading or Bushnell had been to the United States Court. A. I did not know it.

When Levenson was cross-examined by Attorney Weeks as to Corcoran's alleged plot with Brownie Kennedy to have Mishawum Manor raided, he was asked whether he had told all of the conversation. He replied that he preferred to leave out the rest. "Why, to protect my client?" Weeks asked. "No, it's so rotten. I desire to keep this case as clean as I can," Levenson replied.

New York, May 29.—Henry L. Joyce, indicted last September on charges of defrauding the government out of $1,000,000 while wartime marine manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was fined $12,500 today by Federal Judge George English. It was charged that Joyce diverted business and repair work at exorbitant prices to the stevedoring corporation and the boat repairing company in which the defendant was interested. The corporations were each fined $1,000 by Judge English on pleas of guilty to similar charges.

the nice home he would build for me in New York—of all the money he had and how happy we would be. I didn't want to do it—but I listened to his stories.

"I should have known better. The only money he ever spent on me in his life was when I was going to Europe. He never would introduce me to his parents. Then he did loosen up to the extent of hiring a taxicab in New York to take me to the wharf. On the way there, we stopped at a tenement in the East Side. I was terribly shocked. I learned his father was a banana peddler.

CRIED AT 'EXPOSE.'

"I cried all the way over to Europe it was so terrible to me. But I came back home and then he came to Peabody and started a courtship in real earnest. It only lasted a couple of weeks and I consented to marry him—secretly. We were married at Lynn on December 23, but we never went together after that.

"All he wanted me for was my money and I'm glad he'll never get any of it."

The young bride was then asked concerning her trip to Europe.

"Yes, I was sent over by Mr. and Mrs. Korn" she said in answer to a question.

"We had a chauffeur that drove the family car and they thought I was getting too friendly with him. They fired the chauffeur and sent me to Europe and when I came back I forgot all about him."

The Korns are reputed to be among the wealthiest in Peabody. Mr. Korn is in the leather manufacturing business. He and his wife, Mrs. Rhoda Korn have had charge of Miss Solloway since her parents died, several years ago. The girl's parents left her considerable money and it is understood the Korns had planned to leave their fortune to her.

In the meantime, Harry Finger, the out-of-luck husband, declares he has some burning flapper love notes from his young wife which he will introduce in evidence in his alienation suit. He declares these letters show the high school girl was madly in love with him and that Mr. and Mrs. Korn, without just cause, killed her love for him.

Weinbaum says that on February 1 last Miss Matthews agreed to marry him, and he gave her the ring to announce their engagement. On March 8 Weinbaum says that Miss Matthews notified him that the engagement was off.

RUNAWAY WIFE AND HER BABY FACE STARVATION IN NEW YORK

HUSBAND FORGIVES HUB MATE WHO FLED HOME

When confronted with a choice between her husband on one hand, and $2, her baby and the solicitude of a male boarder, on the other, Mrs. Theresa Draper, twenty, of No. 122 West Eighth street, South Boston, shelved the husband.

Mrs. Theresa Draper.

For three days Mrs. Draper, Frank Greenleaf, twenty-five, the boarder, and Benjamin Franklin Draper, eighteen months old son of the youthful wife, fought gamely against the current of the big city — New York.

Today, when the last penny of the $2 capital had vanished, the South Boston wife, carrying little Benjamin Franklin, walked into the Oak street police station, destitute and starving. Greenleaf was with her. They told the story of a losing battle, of an argumentive husband, and of an urge to better themselves in New York.

A few hours later in South Boston, Draper, her husband, announced that he has forgiven her for leaving him last Saturday and will go to New York and bring her back—if she will come.

HAD FREQUENT QUARRELS.

According to her mother, Mrs. Craig, the couple had frequent arguments and her daughter had grown weary of them. Greenleaf has been a boarder in the Draper home for several years, according to neighbors.

The young woman told the police that she and Greenleaf came to New York last Tuesday intending to obtain employment here. So far they had failed to find work and were destitute and needed food and shelter. All were given food, and then Mrs. Draper and Greenleaf were booked as technical vagrants. The child was sent to Bellevue.

OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

Mrs. Draper told the police she was married, but left home because of conditions there. She was wan and appeared to be suffering from fatigue.

She said she and Greenleaf had been friends since their school days and that when Greenleaf heard of her home difficulties he proposed that they come to New York and earn their living. Being desperate, she decided to follow his advice.

Mrs. Draper said that when they arrived in New York on Tuesday night they had only $2. They remained in the Grand Central Terminal, snatching what sleep they could.

BOOTLEGS THREATEN DEATH TO FARMERS

Patchogue, N. Y., May 29.—Bootleggers and rum runners over Long Island roads into New York, have broadcast threats of death and property destruction against those who seek to check their activities, it was charged today by Charles Gordon, president of the Long Island Duck Raisers' Association.

"I have received warning unless I stop talking about and chasing bootleggers, my farmhouses will be burned," Gordon said. "I understand my son is to be the first victim. Death threats have been sent to others."

Gordon charged that rum runners swarmed over Long Island roads every night, and alleged that there was no attempt made by the authorities to stop them.

'HE SOCKED ME COLD, JUDGE,' SAYS ACTRESS

IMOGENE WILSON

(International News Reel Photo)

MR. AND MRS. FRANK TINNEY

Zeigfeld Follies beauty, Imogene Wilson, declares Frank Tinney, comedian, gave her a terrible beating in her apartment after having promised to marry her as soon as he was divorced from his wife. Above is Tinney and his wife, a former actress, and inset is Frank Tinney, Jr., three years old. Tinney was arrested today in his home at Baldwin, L. I., after Miss Wilson had asked for a warrant.

TINNEY BAILED

too ill to appear today and I would like a postponement."

Judge Henry Goodman set the hearing for Saturday.

Toward the end of the proceedings Tinney brightened considerably.

"She will not appear," he said confidently. "Nobody ever appeared against me—nobody ever will."

The comedian and his wife left together.

Miss Wilson's attempt at suicide occurred at a party Saturday night in her apartment. She said she loved Tinney so much she was going to kill herself, but the "poison" proved to be only harmless pills.

As a result of this party Tinney said his wife had him thrown out of her automobile on Broadway Tuesday. Mrs. Tinney started divorce proceedings in 1921, but later changed her mind.

In her complaint Miss Wilson alleged Tinney came to her apartment Tuesday evening, threw her on the floor, beat her and pulled her hair out by the roots.

"The girl has all the appearance of having been struck by an automobile," said Dr. Jerome Wagner, who examined her injuries. "It was a most brutal attack."

Miss Wilson said Tinney told her his wife was going to California to get a divorce, after which he would marry her.

"I loved him like many other little fools," she said.

Tinney is married and has a son. His wife is the former Edna Davenport, musical comedy actress.

Imogene, whom Ziegfeld declared to be the loveliest girl in the Follies, appeared in West Side Court to tell Magistrate McAndrews all about it. A bandage about her head lent color to her story and a few bruises scattered here and there indicated that Comedian Tinney was in no joking mood when:

"He socked me cold, Judge," as she described it.

Miss Wilson further asserted that Tinney had split her head open, beaten her up and otherwise rendered her in such condition that the Follies' "convention edition" would have to go to press without her for the time being at least.

Magistrate McAndrews offered to issue a summons charging Tinney with simple assault but Imogene, reckoning her scratches and bruises, couldn't see it that way. She wanted the law on Frank pronto, and she wanted it heavy. As she put it:

"I want that guy jailed for felonious assault."

"Why does he beat you?" inquired the court.

"Judge," replied the pretty blonde, "he considers that one of his star indoor sports."

COLLAPSES IN STATION

With this the "loveliest girl" jumped into a taxicab and headed for the west Sixty-Eighth Police Station. There a detective was assigned as a body guard and the two set out on the trail of Tinney.

Returning to the police station, Miss Wilson suddenly collapsed.

She was taken home and Dr. Jerome Wagner was summoned. Dr. Wagner said:

"The girl has all the appearances of having been struck by an automobile. Whoever inflicted those injuries must have administered a terrible beating. Her arms and legs are black and blue, and there are large contusions on her abdomen. It was a most brutal attack."

Miss Wilson, when seen by a representative of the Boston American said:

"Three months ago Frank told me that his wife had gone to California to get a divorce. He said that as soon as he was divorced he would marry me. Like a fool I believed him.

"He was insanely jealous and charged me with every sort of crazy thing.

"Although he beat me time and again I loved him. I believed that he loved me and that he would marry me."

WEARS HIS TROUSERS.

Miss Wilson's application for Tinney's arrest followed a little incident that occurred in her apartment in West Seventy-Fourth street.

Police were attracted when Imogene came running into the street garbed in Tinney's clothing and screaming at the top of her voice that the comedian had beaten her up.

Miss Wilson told Magistrate McAndrews that the affair started when Tinney, who has a wife and child on Long Island, accused her of being the "sweetie" of a newspaper man she took to her apartment.

She asked him there, she said, because she had arranged to have him write "the story of her life" for metropolitan newspaper consumption.

Tinney, she said, suddenly appeared in a blue-silk kimono and began voicing his opinions.

"When I saw him," she added, "I ran over to kiss him. Judge, he socked me. He knocked me cold."

About two hours later, it appears, Tinney demanded the right to telephone his wife and when Miss Wilson objected he began throwing things.

It was during this barrage that Imogene made her dash for the street, gathering as she went what articles of Tinney's wearing apparel came first to hand.

ESTRANGED HUSBAND KILLS WIFE

Woodsville, N. H., Man Declares Fatal Shot Was Fired by Accident

Woodsville, N. H., May 29.—Mrs. Lucy L. Roy, forty-one years old, was shot and killed by her estranged husband, William, at her home in North Monroe.

Roy has been arrested and is said by police to have confessed the shooting, which he maintains was an accident.

The tragedy occurred after Roy had battered the front door of the farmhouse down when he was refused admittance. A seventeen-year-old son of Mrs. Roy by a former marriage hit Roy over the head and a scuffle followed.

During the affray Mrs. Roy grabbed the gun and it was discharged, the bullet striking her in the stomach. She died soon afterward. Money matters and liquor are said to have caused the fatal trouble.

Memorial Day will be more or less drab, unsettled. Showery weather is promised, with cooling winds from the east. For the northern part of New England, rain tonight and tomorrow.

TELEPHONE REVENUE NOT HIT

Retail Board Finds Claims of Wage Increases Unsupported by Facts

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is NOT suffering from a reduction in revenue.

The two alleged reasons for a yearly increase of a million and a half sought by the 'phone company, beginning June 1, are exploded by the Retail Trade Board after an exhaustive study of the workings of the corporation.

Increase in wages was one of the two major reasons offered by Matt B. Jones, president of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company for the reduction in revenue and the subsequent need of more money.

Well—the much-heralded increase amounts to the amazing sum of $1.08 a week, according to the findings of the Retail Trade Board!

An increase of approximately 5 per cent. in wages to operators is the general average found.

WAGES DECREASED.

Since 1920, moreover, according to Daniel Bloomfield, of the Retail Trade Board, salaries of all employes of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company have shown a decrease of nearly 10 per cent.

"Increased cost of plant and equipment," was the other reason offered Mr. Jones.

"The company intends to back up this contention by comparing the figures of the years 1920, '21 and '22 with the figures of 1923," says Bloomfield.

"Naturally, by adding the strike expenses—$2,500,000—to the operating expenses in 1923, there is an apparent reduction in the earning capacity of the company. However, by eliminating the strike expenses from operating expenses, there is no such disparity between the four years' results.

EARNING CAPACITY.

"On the contrary, the earning capacity of the company was maintained on the same level, in spite of the new plant which was expected to produce the same proportion at once, as the old plant.

"Neither is Mr. Jones' contention correct that the credit of the company would suffer, for the book value of the common stock, in spite of the strike and heavy outlay for the new plant, is shown to be very little reduced in 1923 as against previous years.

"An interesting sidelight is also thrown on the assertion of the company that salaries of employes were increased and that these higher salaries necessitated higher rates to be saddled upon the public.

"As a matter of fact, it is found that the much-heralded increases for operators' wages is the amazing amount of one dollar and eight cents a week.

"In 1920 the average wage for operators was $22 a week. In 1921 and 1922 the average had dropped to $21 a week. In 1923 it had gone up to $22.08 a week, an increase of one dollar and eight cents a week over the old rate."

TWO ALLEGED TIRE THIEVES ARE CAUGHT

Two men are under arrest accused of trying to steal tires from an automobile parked in front of a policeman's home. The men gave their names as Herbert P. Shaughnessy, No. 8 Glenwood street, Roxbury and James O'Rourke, No. 2571 Washington street.

Patrolman Joseph Curry, who lives on Frawley street, Roxbury, saw two men working at the tires of a machine in front of his house. He arrested one at the point of a gun. Turning him over to officers he had summoned by phone from the Roxbury station, he jumped into an auto and pursued the second man who had fled in a machine in the direction of Parker Hill. Overtaking him the officer placed him under arrest after several minutes' struggle. He proved to be Shaughnessy.

tion picture operator, married and the father of two children, was the climax of one of Staten Island's most sensational murder cases.

It had its inception March 25, when the body of Mrs. Bauer was found by the side of a lonely Staten Island road. She had been shot, beaten and strangled.

A large part of the police department went to work on the case, with but slender clews to pursue. Witnesses were found who told of having seen Mrs. Bauer driving her mother and daughters in her small car, stalling the motor in the mud of a lonely road when she had swerved to avoid collision with a truck. Her mother told of a passing the mystery motorist, ended in the arrest of Hoffman.

The last session of the trial was occupied principally with cross-examination and arguments. Judge Tiernan, in charging the jury regarding the different degrees of murder, reminded it that only a thirteen-year-old girl had positively identified Hoffman as the slayer. The rest of the State's case was based on circumstantial evidence.

Hoffman's attorney drew attention to conflicting testimony of gun experts regarding possession of a revolver which Hoffman was charged with having given to his brother shortly after the killing.

District Attorney Fach requested either a verdict of first degree murder or acquittal.

Chicago Police Chief Charges Brewery Laid Death Trap for "Dry" Officers

Chicago, May 29 (Universal).—A plot of diabolical cunning to lead dry raiders into a lethal chamber and perhaps to death was revealed by Chief of Police Collins.

He declared that the plant of the Sieben Brewery which recently was seized by Chicago detectives and its owners, John Torrio, Dion O'Banion and Louis Alterie arrested and turned over to Federal authorities, had been converted into a "gas chamber" to trap the expected raiders.

The owners of the brewery are under Federal indictment following the seizure of thirteen truckloads of beer in the raid.

LEVER TO SPRING TRAP.

The freezing plant of the Sieben Brewery, Chief Collins declared, had been completely rearranged in expectation of the raid.

A room just inside the front door of the brewery had been connected with the freezing plant by means of a pipe line carrying ammonia.

Its windows were hermetically sealed and the cocks of the pipe so arranged that a single jerk of a lever in an outlying part of the plant would flood the room and eventually the entire brewery with deadly fumes.

"I learned of the plot by sheer luck just as we were set to make the raid," Chief Collins said. "I didn't dare tell my men about it. I knew what they would do.

RAIDERS STAYED OUTSIDE.

"They would take the place by storm and shoot up the whole gang. So I issued positive orders that none of the raiding squad was to set his foot inside the brewery for any reason."

Although the orders handicapped his men, the chief declared, the raid was carried out with military precision, his men keeping a twenty-four-hour watch over the plant. A telephone connected them directly with Chief Collins. A rifle squad was only a block away.

When the trucks approached the brewery in the dead of Sunday night they were permitted to load and as they started away in caravan fashion they were seized, along with the three alleged ringleaders of the gang.

Members of the gang were said to have been immune from arrest in the sensational charges made by Bruce Armstrong, prohibition agent, while testifying before the Senate Committee several weeks ago.

BROWN TRIES TO PUT BISHOPS ON RECORD

Charges in Affidavit "Heresy Is Rampant" Throughout Episcopal Church

Cleveland, May 29 (I.N.S.).—Bishop William Montgomery Brown, the white-haired churchman, who is being tried for the ancient crime of heresy by a jury of eight Episcopal bishops here, made a vigorous effort today to put the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church on record as to their literal belief in the Scriptures.

Through his counsel he filed an affidavit with the trial court, requesting that more than a hundred of the bishop-governors of the church be summoned as witnesses for the defence, or, if that is not possible, to have them give their views on Fundamentalism and Modernism, through the medium of an elaborate questionnaire, based on both Old and New Testaments.

Bishop Brown said in his affidavit that by their testimony he expected to prove that "heresy" in varying degrees is rampant throughout the church, in that few of present-day divines accept literally the marvelous stories of the Bible.'

The effort to put his brother bishops on record is the crux of Bishop Brown's defence against the heresy charges brought against him. His questionnaire contains such questions as:

'Do you believe:

"That God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh?

"That Eve was made of Adam's rib as he slept?

"That the serpent talked with Eve about forbidden fruit?

"That Adam lived 930 years and Methuselah 969?

"That only Noah and those with him survived the flood?

"That Lot's wife, looking backward, became a pillar of salt?

"That when Moses stretched out his hand, God drowned the Egyptians?

"That God caused Balaam's ass to speak?"

CHINESE FIRE ON BRITISH WARSHIP

Gunboat Commander Wounded in Action; Bandits Hold Americans for Ransom

London, May 29 (I.N.S.).—Chinese troops attacked the British gunboat Robin while on its way from Canton to Waicho, wounding Commander Tudway, said a Central News dispatch from Hong Kong today. The gunboat returned the fire.

Peking, May 29 (AP).—Culver B. Chamberlain, American Vice-Consul at Canton, has gone to Wuchow in Kwangsi Province, to urge action by local authorities to obtain the release of two Americans and their twenty-two companions, taken captive recently by pirates who captured the motorboat Roanoke, owned by the American Southern Baptist Mission at Wuchow.

The Roanoke was captured near Ohenping on the Ho River.

The American prisoners are Dr. H. G. Miller, member of the Christian Missionary Alliance, and Rex Ray of the Southern Baptist Mission.

Two Englishmen, named Jaffray and Carne, also were taken prisoner, along with twenty Chinese. All were blindfolded and taken to the pirates' mountain stronghold.

The story of the attack and capture became public when the bandits released the Chinese captain of the Roanoke so that he might notify the mission that the prisoners would be freed upon payment of a large ransom.

DIES IN AUTO CRASH AT LYNDONVILLE, VT.

Lyndonville, Vt., May 29.—Peter Grant of Lyndon Corner was instantly killed here today when an automobile skidded from the road and crashed into a tree. Raymond Harris, the driver, and another occupant of the car were uninjured. The police are holding Harris pending an investigation into the accident.

Chestnut Hill Horse Show to Attract Smart Set Tomorrow, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

Jessie Bancroft.

SOCIETY'S sport-loving contingent will turn its motors Chestnut Hill-ward tomorrow for the horse show at the Chestnut Hill grounds of the Longwood Cricket Club.

The list of entrants is unusually large this year, including such prominent amateur riders as the Misses Jessie Bancroft, "Res" Adie, Mary Louise Almy and Alice Thorndike, as well as Messrs. John P. Bowditch, Alvin F. Sortwell, Augustus P. Goodwin, Francis Peabody, Reginald Bird, Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., and Dr. Freeman Allen.

This is the twenty-first annual Chestnut Hill horse show, easily an outstanding turf event hereabouts.

WITH the horse show on the holiday, and the Walker-MacDuffie wedding on Saturday, the week-end will hardly be dull.

When Miss Evelyn Walker walks up the aisle of the First Parish Church in Brookline, to become the bride of John MacDuffie 2nd., she will be preceded as matron of honor by her sister, Mrs. Lindsay Bradford (Katherine Walker).

The bridesmaids group will be unusually attractive, including the Misses Harriet Royce, Nina Underwood, Margaret Williams, Barbara Stone, Grace Sargent, Frances Thompson and Dorothy Powning.

HARRIET ROYCE AND HELEN CLARK

Miss Harriet Royce, left, and Miss Helen O. Clark, both of Boston, were recently snapped at Hot Springs. Miss Royce will be a bridesmaid at the Walker-MacDuffie wedding on Saturday.

Mrs. Lindsay Bradford

Miss Royce, who is pictured above with Miss Helen Clark enjoying a brisk ride at Hot Springs, is herself to be a bride in the Fall, the lucky man being Sidney Hosmer, Jr. Miss Clark, the daughter of Mrs. Edward A. Clark, is the fiancee of John J. Kerr.

The Walker-MacDuffie nuptials will be solemnized at high noon with a reception following immediately after at the Upland road home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walker. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus L. MacDuffie of New York. He received his sheepskin from Harvard last June.

A very brightly shining halo of romance seems to hover over Saturday's bridal entourage, for Miss Nina Underwood will become Mrs. David H. McAlpin, 3rd., the ceremonial set for June 11 in Belmont.

APROPOS of "love, honor and obey" events, I hear that Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Prince (Anna Agassiz) are spending their honeymoon "somewhere on the Cape."

The marriage which united these two enthusiastic sport-lovers took place on Sunday at Hamilton. It was distinctly a gathering of the Myopia clan which attended the reception held at the Hamilton country home of the Rodolphe L. Agassiz, following the quiet ceremony in the vestry of St. Paul's Church at South Hamilton.

Society Notes

MR. and Mrs Jeffrey Davis of Kingston, R. I., are spending the week in Boston at the Vendome.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Graeme Haughton will spend the Summer at the Louis A. Shaw estate at Beverly Farms. The new home of the Haughtons is rapidly being built on the site of their old home at Pride's Crossing, which was destroyed by fire over a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. James Means are established for the season at "Meadow Lodge," their Manchester place.

Mrs. Charles McVey of Washington is spending a few weeks at the Vendome.

QUESTIONS ON BONUS ARE ANSWERED

Points Which Have Puzzled Veterans Cleared Up by American's Bureau

Veterans are flooding the Boston American-Advertiser Bureau with inquiries asking for information on the soldier bonus bill that will solve their own individual problems.

Among the questions comes one from an ex-service man asking if his service in Panama Canal Zone is rated as overseas service.

No, it is not.

"Overseas Service" means service on shore in Europe or Asia, exclusive of China, Japan and the Philippine Islands, and service afloat except on receiving ships. Anything else comes under the head of home service.

ALL TIME ON BOARD COUNTS.

A number of men are anxious to know just when their overseas service may be said to have begun. In computing their credit they can count as overseas service all the time from the day they embarked at the port here until the day they again landed on home shores. The time spent in camp both before sailing and after debarkation is counted as home service.

A former sailor boy who served aboard the transport ships going between this country and France is puzzled as to how much overseas credit he is entitled to claim. Men who were in the transport service can count all their time as overseas, inclusive of the times that they were in port in this country.

RIGHTS OF HEIRS.

A man asks if an officer's service started with his enrollment in an officer's training camp. It did. This does not include members of Students' Army Training Corps, who are not eligible for the bonus.

Also comes the question as to whether the heirs of men who died before discharge from service are entitled to the adjusted compensation. Heirs of dead soldiers are entitled to the bonus if they come under the head of dependents, which includes widows, parents and children of minor age.

Other veterans ask if they can borrow on their policies after January 1, 1927, or not until two years after the actual date of the issue of the policies.

$1,590.62 IS MAXIMUM.

According to the law no loan can be made on a policy until two years after the date of issue, but according to present plans of the War Department and the Veterans' Bureau, this date will be January 1, 1927.

A veteran wonders if anyone, under the law, can receive the full $2,000. This would be impossible, because the limit of adjusted service credit, $625, multiplied by the maximum factor, 2.545, gives $1,590.62 as the largest possible bonus.

One man writes to find out if having been twice honorably discharged from the navy and then the third time dishonorably discharged for being A. W. O. L. he is entitled to a bonus. No, he is not. The law excludes from adjusted compensation a man who has been at any time separated from the service under other than honorable conditions.

FRIENDS SLASH EACH OTHER IN E. BOSTON DUEL

Furious Knife Battle Behind Locked Door Sends Both to the Hospital

Angelo Archito and James Berselli live together. They drink together. They fight together. They even go to the hospital together.

But Archito, the younger—he is thirty-five—was the winner of a furious knife battle, a slashing fight waged on practically every inch of a room in their home, No. 6 Cottage place, East Boston.

Archito won by two slashes. He had only eighteen, while his adversary, Berselli, who is fifty-four, had twenty slashes.

USED POCKET KNIVES.

The men used pocket knives—each man his own knife and each man for himself naturally.

What the argument was that precipitated the keen discussion, the police have not been able to wean from either yet. But the men were drinking from late last night until early today.

As the witching hour slid past into history, Archito and Berselli closed the door of the room they were in, and locked it. Each took from his pocket his personal knife.

The executive session was not a long one, but it was important to the principals. The knives were small but they were industrious.

After a time the discussion was noised to the ears of neighbors, slumbering in adjoining rooms and houses. Archito and Berselli had thrown both caution and silence to the wind—and the wind carried.

HELD BY POLICE.

The police, called by the neighbors, forced their way into the room of the battling friends. They were taken to the East Boston Relief Hospital, where Dr. William Holland had to wipe off their faces to see who had won. The victor was established when Berselli was found to have two more slashes than Archito.

For six hours Dr. Holland worked over the men, vulcanizing their faces, neck and arms. There were too many punctures for just patches.

Both men are charged with mutual assault with sharp instruments.

UNION LEADERS DEFY RAIL LABOR BOARD

Chicago, May 29 (I.N.S.).—Another test of the power of the United States Railway Labor Board was in prospect today, as Warren D. Stone, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and D. B. The Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroad and the two unions are involved in the dispute in question.

The board has notified the brotherhood chieftains that their action is a violation of the law.

From 1849 to 1924

75 years old

In 1849 thousands of forward-looking pioneers journeyed clear across this country to seek their fortunes in the new gold fields of California, and thereby opened up the great empire of the far west. In that same year, Hugh Ward set out to seek his fortune, but in a far different way. In 1849 he opened the first Ward Bakery, on Broome Street, New York.

From that simple beginning, through four generations, Ward's Bread has grown from a few hundred loaves a day to a popularity of nearly 400,000,000 loaves a year—the output of 19 bakeries in 13 American cities, all devoted to the making of Ward's Fine Bread and Cake.

In this search for fame and fortune, quality has been the goal, and profit has been sought only in small units—a fraction of a cent a loaf—but making and selling so many loaves of bread, that this very small profit per loaf becomes a satisfactory profit per year. Success has been achieved by adding to the quality and nourishment of Ward's Fine Bread every possible saving effected through great purchasing ability and the use of modern equipment and scientific methods.

This, then, is the 75th Anniversary of Ward's Fine Bread. It is impossible to compare your new loaf—called Ward's Fine Bread—with the bread of 75 years ago. It is finer in quality, much more nourishing, much better in flavor; and the modern methods of making are far superior in every way. It differs as much from the bread of '49 as the luxurious overland limited differs from the covered wagon of '49.

It is your right and privilege to buy bread where you please. But we urge you to visit the bakery that makes the bread you eat. If you are a regular user of Ward's Fine Bread you will have the enjoyment and satisfaction of seeing our bakery, our modern machinery, methods and processes and the fine quality ingredients. If you are not a regular user of Ward's Fine Bread, a visit to our bakery will convert you.

Come see the result of 75 years of progress. Come between 1 and 4 P. M. any afternoon from Tuesday to Friday inclusive.

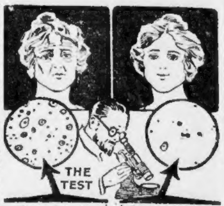
CAR BADLY INJURES MAN IN ROXBURY

An unidentified man about 6[illegible] years old was struck by an inbound electric car early today while crossing Washington street, opposite Ball street, Roxbury. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he is on the danger list. The man is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 150 pounds. He has ruddy complexion, smooth face and gray hair. He was dressed in a well worn black suit, tan shoes and tan sox.

Why Every Person Should Make This INDICAN Test



Where there is a pimply skin, bad stomach, coated tongue, foul breath we usually find INDICAN, just as shown in the picture above.

Same person, after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM ANY TRACE OF INDICAN.

THREE out of every four people in this country, if put under a chemical analysis, would show the presence of INDICAN, many doctors now believe.

INDICAN shows that your blood is clogged with toxic poisons due to constipation. Any day these may result in a severe breakdown and sickness and often lead to rheumatism and heart and lung affections. This poison is deadly!

While most laxatives give only temporary relief from constipation, it has recently been found that one of our oldest and best-known home remedies not only "physics" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drives the INDICAN away.

MAKE THIS TEST: Have an analysis made of your specimen, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if you can "feel" how poisoned you are because of headaches, sallow complexion, no appetite and bad stomach—immediately start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills. Next, have another test made and see how the INDICAN is disappearing. With freedom from constipation poisons, you will enjoy a clear, bright complexion, free from pimples and blackheads, your appetite improves, weight approaches normal, you feel fit, in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

HAD "RUN-IN" WITH MORGAN, MEANS SAYS

Charges Financier's Man Was Member of the Association Back of Mexican Revolt

Washington, May 29.—Gaston B. Means, detective, former government investigator and one time international spy, took the witness stand today again before the Senate Daugherty committee to give additional details of his story that he carried "protection" money in huge amounts to Jess W. Smith, dead companion of former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty.

Means repeated his assertion that in the Summer of 1922 Smith asked him on the strength of a letter from President Harding, to investigate the liquor situation. He worked for some time, Means said, on such an inquiry in New York.

Senator Wheeler then asked if he had anything to do with oil.

"I did. The Department of Justice assigned me to investigate some oil matters in February, 1922," said Means.

Richard Cole, an oil man, he said, came to Washington and entertained a number of Senators. Asked if Cole was attorney for Estaban Cantu, who was planning a revolution in Lower California, Mexico, he replied:

"He was more a promoter. He had a lot of correspondence with the Association for Protection of American Rights in Mexico. That body had no other purpose than to create agitation, and, if necessary, revolution in Mexico."

Means named E. L. Doheny and Martin Egan, J. Pierpont Morgan's confidential man, as officers of the association.

"You worked for Morgan, too?" Senator Wheeler put in.

"I had a run-in with him," Means replied.

The association, he said, "employs ministers, teachers, anybody, in order to help lead the masses astray."

Wreck Kills Three

Emory Gap, Tenn., May 29.—Three men were killed and another is missing in a railroad wreck here today. A strawberry express Southern Railway ploughed through a half open switch, completely wrecking the train and tying up traffic.

CORNS
Lift Off—No Pain!

Doesn't hurt one bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Joint-Ease for Burning Feet

Now that we know that aching, burning feet are caused by troubles in the small bones in the arches of the feet—

And that trouble can only be reached by Joint-Ease, an active emollient that soaks right in through skin and flesh direct to the joints and ligaments.

Isn't it about time to discard powders and medicated baths that only reach the outside of the skin?

And rub on Joint-Ease, that in two minutes starts to soothe and heal the inside troubles that cause soreness and burning.

Rub it on tonight and if there is any burning left in the morning, it won't be enough to bother.

Always remember when Joint-Ease gets in foot agony and burning [illegible] 60 cents a tube.

All druggists sell lots of Joint-Ease.

STONE TO PRESS PROSECUTIONS FOR WAR GRAFT

Man to Conduct Cases for Department Still to Be Selected

Washington, May 29.—The many pending prosecutions growing out of wartime transactions are to be pressed to as quick a conclusion as possible under a revised Department of Justice policy announced today by Attorney General Harlen F. Stone.

Efforts of the war transactions section of the department are to be co-ordinated under one man still to be selected.

Paul Shipman Andrews of Syracuse has been appointed head of "aviation unit" in war transactions section as the first step in the rearrangement.

MYSTERY IN SHOOTING OF SPRINGFIELD MAN

Springfield, May 29.—State and local police are prosecuting a vigorous search for three men who called Charles Kosky to his door in Longmeadow and fired three shots at him, all of which took effect. He is in a serious condition.

The only clue to the identity of the assailants is an automobile bearing a Connecticut registration which was found near the house.

Mrs. Kosky is said not to live with her husband and the police are working on a theory that domestic trouble may have some connection with the case.

My Experience is that DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. Lewis F. Schultz of Reasnor, Ia., Mrs. Victor Knoller of 3625 Bank St., Louisville, Ky., and hosts of others will verify this.

World Acclaims Success

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the prescription of a well-known physician of that name who practised successfully for 47 years. It has been on the market thirty years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Thousands of families have it in their medicine chest ready when any member shows signs of dyspepsia, constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, biliousness, coated tongue, offensive breath, headaches and such ailments that indicate deranged stomach and bowels. Many serious diseases are prevented by this timely aid.

Formula Plainly Stated

Have no hesitancy giving Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to anyone young or old. It is a mild, gentle laxative free from narcotics. It will not cramp or gripe. The formula is on the package, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and simple aromatics. A bottle can be had at any drug store and averages less than a cent a dose. Economical for families and fully guaranteed. You will find it a great improvement in taste and action over castor oil, or "candy cathartics" made from coal-tar that cause skin diseases, calomel that loosens the teeth, salts in water or powder that concentrate the blood and dry the skin.

CASE MADE FOR BABY GIANT PORTABLE

Neat Traveling Case Housing Set and Accessories Weighs 25 Pounds

Add a case to your Baby Giant set and you have a really portable superheterodyne.

In order to help fans to make up this set in portable style, the Boston American had the S. S. Miller Baggage Company make up a special case for the Baby Giant.

The overall size of the completed case is 16 by 7½ by 13 inches. This contains the set, with or without a two stage audio-amplifier, all batteries, antenna wire and ground connecting wire (or loop if desired) and phone or loud speaker.

The weight of the entire case completely equipped is about twenty-five pounds.

The case is covered with special imitation leather with brass fittings, extra heavy handle and presents a very neat appearance.

When carried down Summer street closed and with phones only instead of loud speaker, passersby looked all around for the music, which rolled in without either antenna, ground or loop.

This case will also house a new four-tube model Superflex, using either 199 or 201A tubes which will be added to the Superflex family just as soon as experiments with it are completed.

The following stations will be silent Memorial Day: KSD, WWJ, WCX, WFI, WAAM, WSAD.

N. E. RADIO FANS VOTE 'WET' IN WNAC CONTEST

But Ardent "Dry," Miss Putnam of Quincy, Wins the First Prize

New England radio fans are definitely wet.

This was shown today when final count was made of the votes sent in by the WNAC radio audience on the wet and dry debate broadcast from the Shepard Stores Tuesday night.

A total of 13,834 telegrams were sent in. Of these 105 could not be counted in the voting because of errors. Of the remainder 8,477 voted for the modification of the Volstead act.

Station WNAC awarded $1,000 worth of radio prizes to the persons sending in winning telegrams. The prizes were awarded by drawings.

Peculiarly enough, an ardent "dry" won the first prize. The winner was Lilla R. Putnam of No. 85 Island avenue, Quincy. She will receive a $160 Zenith radio set.

Second prize was won by another "dry": Francis S. Carr, No. 896 Rock street, Fall River. Second and third prizes were $85 Zenith radio sets. Third prize was won by David Belson of No. 28 Whitcox street, Dorchester. Fourth prize, a Sonochord loud speaker, was won by another "wet" voter, Miss Gertrude Anderson of No. 33 Bedford street, Quincy.

As the code word in the voting contest which decided the wet and dry debate was "Dream Girl," Miss Fay Bainter, star of "Dream Girl" at the Wilbur Theatre, and Billy B. Van, one of the stage's funniest comedians, drew the winning telegrams from the great pile on the floor of the WNAC studio.

The wet and dry debate was between representatives of the Anti-Saloon League and the Constitutional Liberty League of Massachusetts. Col. Julian Codman and David F. Sibley spoke for the "wets," and Dr. A. Z. Conrad and W. M. Forgrave for the Anti-Saloon League.

YALE STUDENTS TO DINE LAFOLLETTE

New Haven, May 29.—Supporters among Yale undergraduates of La Follette in the recent mock political campaign which ended in a nominating convention that failed to make a choice of candidates last night, announced today through the Yale News that a banquet would be held June 6, to which the Senator had been invited.

Senator LaFollette received 124 of the 740 votes cast. Coolidge led with 396.

MacDONALD PUTS TEST TO COMMONS

London, May 29 (A.P.).—Prime Minister MacDonald in a speech in the House of Commons today, clearly indicated that if his government was defeated tonight on the motion to reduce the salary of Minister of Labor Shaw, which has been made a test vote of approval of the government's policy toward relieving unemployment, it would go before the country in a general election.

Here's How New Tax Affects Heads of Families

Washington, May 29.—In addition to the 25 per cent. reduction in taxes on income received in 1923 and payable in 1924, individual taxpayers are affected by the following provisions of the new tax reduction bill which apply to individual income received in 1924 and upon which taxes are to be paid in 1925:

1—Normal taxes of 2 per cent. on the first $4,000, 4 per cent. on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent. on $8,000 and above.

2—Surtaxes starting at 1 per cent. on income between $10,000-$14,000 and ending at 40 per cent. on more than $500,000.

3—Exemptions of $1,000 for single individuals and $2,500 for married persons, together with $400 for each dependent.

4—An exemption of 25 per cent. on earned income, all income up to $5,000 being considered earned, and up to a further $5,000 if this is "earned" as defined in the bill.

The following table illustrates the total tax to be paid by married persons without dependents:

RICKARD BETS $1,000 PIGEON BEATS PLANE

New York, May 29.—If an airplane flying from New York to Washington beats a carrier pigeon in the same direction, Tex Rickard is going to be out $1,000 some time today. The pilot and the pigeon will leave the Frank A. Vanderlip estate at Scarborough-on-the-Hudson at 10:30 this morning. They are bearing messages inviting Secretary of State Hughes and the Japanese ambassador to a garden party to be held by the Vanderlips on June 7. Rickard bet his thousand on the pigeon. The garden party is a benefit fete for Tsuda College, Tokio.

POPE PROCLAIMS 1925 HOLY YEAR

Rome, May 29.—(A.P.)—Pope Pius today issued a bull proclaiming 1925 a holy year. On the opening of Ascension Day this morning, the Pontiff consigned to Monsignor Joseph Wilpert, dean of the apostolic prothonotaries, the bull embodying the papal pronouncement.

In the bull, the Pope, besides granting the usual indulgences for the jubilee, prays for real pacification of the world, for reunion of the churches dissenting from the Church of Rome, and for systematization of the edifices of Palestine according to Catholic rights.

Radio Conditions Tonight and Friday

Radio receiving conditions tonight and tomorrow night probably will be good from stations broadcasting in the entire Eastern and Southern parts of the country.

Stations broadcasting in the Northwest will not be heard so well, because of a difference in barometric pressure.

FARM AND R. R. BILLS HOLD UP CONGRESS

Insurgents of House and Senate Demand Legislation Before Adjournment

Washington, May 29. (I.N.S.)—Adjournment of Congress June 7 became more uncertain today as House insurgents joined with Senate insurgents in a demand for satisfactory farm relief and railroad legislation before the session ends.

Congressman John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, leader of the House insurgents, is circulating a petition among the members of the Farm Bloc and the railroad group in the House, securing binding pledges to fight adjournment until their legislative demands are met.

Republican Leader Longworth and his lieutenants believed until early today they had affairs shaped for an agreement on adjournment by all factions in the House. He contemplated sending along to the Senate the adjournment resolution about next Wednesday.

Work on a new bill was begun today by members of the Senate and House Farm Blocs, to have it ready for introduction as a substitute for the pending measure if they find such action warranted.

MELLON OBJECTS TO BUILDING PROGRAM

Washington, May 29.—Appropriation of $38,700,000 for completion of the program for construction of public buildings, proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, is declared by Secretary Mellon to be "in conflict with the financial program of the President." As a result of Mr. Mellon's views, made known in a letter to Senator Fletcher, it is considered unlikely the measure will be pressed for a vote at this session.

JAPANESE PROTEST REACHES CAPITAL

Washington, May 29.—The Japanese protest against the new immigration law reached the Japanese embassy here today by cable. Because of its great length some time will be required to recode and study it before it is formally presented to the State Department.

Meantime Ambassador Hanihara will make no appointment to see Secretary Hughes for the purpose of presenting his government's views.

10,000 CHILDREN AT BIG CATHOLIC MISSION HERE

INITIAL STUDENTS CRUSADE IN N. E.

Convention Opens With Raising Flag on Grounds at Boston College

More than 10,000 school children, representatives of every Catholic institution of learning in the archdiocese of Boston, took part today in the first New England convention of the Catholice Students' Mission Crusade.

The ceremonies at Alumni Field, Boston College, were opened by a solemn high mass, celebrated outdoors by Rt. Rev. John B. Peterson, rector of St. John's Seminary, Brighton.

The convention was officially opened by the raising of a flag on Alumni Field, after the colorful procession of school children had marched from the College Administration Building to the field. Here the combined schools sang the Cardinal's hymn, "The Cross and the Flag."

The outdoor mass followed, with Mgr. Peterson celebrating. Rev. Patrick J. McHugh, dean of Boston College, served as deacon, and Rev. Anthony P. Laverty, organizer of the local crusade chapter, subdeacon. Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. John's Seminary was master of ceremonies.

SANG MASS HYMNS.

The two hundred seminarians who followed the school children, garbed in surplice and cassock, sang the mass hymns. The crusade sermon was preached by Rev. Frank A. Thill of Cincinnati, O., national secretary-treasurer of the organization. William Cardinal O'Connell, who presided at the services, was assisted by Rt. Rev. Richard J. Haberlin, D. D., and Rt. Rev. Joseph F. McGlinchy as chaplains.

Following the mass, which was one of the most imposing sights ever witnessed at University Heights, the assembly moved again towards the tower building which had been the background of the ceremony, to partake of a dinner served by the Philomathea Club of Boston College.

The afternoon will be taken up with pageants presented by the various schools, interspersed with sermons, exciting interest in the foreign missions. Rev. William Devlin, S. J., president of Boston College, will be the principal speaker.

FORMED IN 1918

The Catholic students' mission crusade was formed in 1918 at St. Mary's Mission House, Techy, Ill. For the first few years it spread widely through the West, having at present flourishing chapters at Creighton University, St. Louis University and Notre Dame. Gradually it spread to the East, and has now a total of 2,069 chapters in 686 institutions of higher learning and 1,383 elementary schools, a total enrollment of 400,000 members.

Rev. Richard T. Cushing is chairman of the local executive board, which has charge of the chapters in Boston College, St. John's Seminary, Brighton; St. Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton; Emmanuel College, Boston College High, St. John's Prep, Danvers; Notre Dame Academy, Lowell; Sacred Heart Academy, Watertown; Notre Dame Academy, Roxbury; Ste. Chretienne Academy, Salem; Marycliffe Academy, Arlington Heights; St. James High, Haverhill; St. Rose's High, Chelsea; Mt. St. Joseph's Academy, Brighton; St. Francis Xavier's Mission House, Duxbury, and Cheverus High, Malden.

CHELSEA GIRL MUST GIVE UP $340 RING

Ethel Porter was adjudged in contempt by Judge Hammond in Superior Court for failing to obey a decree entered on February 21 last ordering her to return to Philip E. and Edward Lieberman, doing business as Lieberman Bros., a platinum diamond ring valued at $340 and to pay costs of litigation amounting to $19.91.

Ethel Porter.

Lieberman Bros. sold the ring on a conditional contract to Benjamin G. Leavitt, who gave it to Miss Porter in expectation of her marriage to him.

Leavitt paid only $50 on account and when Lieberman Bros. demanded the ring from him he said that Miss Porter had it. She refused to surrender the ring to Lieberman Bros.

Judge Hammond continued the case until June 30 for disposition. Miss Porter lives at No. 135 Washington avenue, Chelsea.

POSTAL SALARIES BILL TO BE RUSHED

Washington, May 29.—The House substitute for the Senate Salaries Bill will be considered next week by the House under a program worked out by its postoffice committee.

The measure will be called up, probably Tuesday, under suspension of rules, which would limit debate for forty minutes, prevent amendments, and require a two-thirds vote for passage.

The committee, confident of enough votes to pass the bill, plans to adjust differences with the Senate in conference in time to reach an agreement. The Senate bill closely follows the measure drafted by the joint congressional committee.

Dick, formerly Mrs. John Jacob Astor, at the last minute cancelled her passage on the Aquitania, which sailed for Cherbourg and Southampton.

Mrs. Wm. K. Dick.

At the Dick home at No. 7 East Eighth street it was explained that Mrs. Dick has been ill with grip for several weeks and that for this reason her voyage had been postponed. She will sail with her husband and son next Wednesday on the Berengaria.

CITY CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED IN ERROR

William F. Hurley, twenty-nine years old, of No. 81 Magazine street, Roxbury, a chauffeur for Building Commissioner John H. Mahoney, is the victim of circumstances. Hurley was in a store at No. 2 Dearborn street, Roxbury, seeing a friend in regard to obtaining tickets for the Tansey-Shevlin bout at the Arena tonight, when police inspectors raided the store and arrested him and several others as suspects in the Framingham bank messenger robbery. Later it was discovered that he was a bystander in the store and he was released.

Historic Gowns Will Be Worn in "Old Boston" Fete

Interest in the "Old Boston Days on Beacon Hill" fete, which is scheduled for the afternoon and evening of the 16th of June, is particularly keen, as the time approaches.

Many members of the old families of Boston, wearing priceless old costumes, are to pose in the doorways of the houses in which they were born. Great-grandmothers' wedding gowns, ball gowns which were worn at the White House, and presentation gowns gorgeous with beautiful lace, will appear again for a few hours to delight the eyes of the world of today.

Mrs. H. H. Richardson, Miss Eleanor Goodwin, Mrs. John C. Gray and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Lyman and many others will be among those who will be in their ancestral doorways.

FRENCH FLIER HAS ARRIVED AT PEKING

Peking, May 29 (A.P.)—Captain Georges Pelletier Doisy reached here late today, completing a long-distance stage of his flight from Paris to Tokio.

The dashing airman left Shanghai this morning and arrived at the capital after making a brief stop at Tsinan-fu early in the afternoon. The total distance is more than 650 miles. He used a Chinese plane.

JUDGE PRAISES RECORD SET BY COURTS

The docket of the Superior Criminal Court two years ago contained 7,000 cases, which number has been reduced to less than 300 "real live" cases, Judge Bishop told jurors in Superior Criminal Court today as their term of service expired.

Judge Bishop is of the opinion that the work of the district attorney's office and that of the court constitutes a remarkable record.

The Judge also spoke of the value of the probation system and said that every man who came before the court as a defendant should have a chance to make good. That is what the probation system stands for, he declared.

The old idea that every one who violates the laws must suffer the penalty of imprisonment has within the last twenty years undergone a great change, and many men, by humane treatment, have been restored [illegible] which they have become useful citizens.

Cable Briefs

Moscow.—Americans seeking concessions in Soviet Russia will derive little encouragement from the declarations of M. Zinovieff before the Communist party convention. The chairman of the Communist International told delegates that out of 191 applications for concessions made by Americans up to April 1 only two were granted.

Broker Ignores Shots and Badges; Later Escapes Trial

Charles F. Brown of No. 415 Linden street, Wellesley, ignored two police badges, an uplifted hand of a traffic officer, and two police shots as he raced his automobile through Brookline Saturday night.

Officers later captured Brown at the Longwood Cricket Club. He was charged with driving so as to endanger the lives of the public.

Brown is a wealthy Boston broker.

RUMANIAN KING NEAR DEATH IN EXPLOSiON

London, May 29.—King Ferdinand of Rumania is reported to have narrowly escaped death during a series of explosions in the Central Ammunition Depot, two miles west of the Rumanian capital. The King, the report says, approached so near the arsenal that General Madaresco was obliged to drag him away, and a shell exploded on the spot where he had been standing.

The correspondent says it is believed several workmen were killed. A girl's school nearby caught fire. Some of the children escaped, while the fate of the others is unknown.

WARREN BANK CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

Worcester, May 29.—The cases of Joseph B. Marcino in connection with the wrecking of the First National Bank of Warren on charges of conspiracy and larceny of $213,000 in bonds, and of Abraham Goldman, on charges of conspiracy and aiding in the larceny, went to the jury today.

Attorney Asa P. French, counsel for Marcino, argued that it was solely a matter of veracity for the jury to determine whether Frank L. Taylor, former president of the bank, or Marcino, told the true story of the happenings on February 6, when the bonds were taken from the vault.

Mine Strife Ends

London, May 29 (A.P.).—A conference today of the miners' delegates voted 473 to 311 to accept the terms of the agreement reached by the Miners' Federation representatives with the owners.

GIRL STUDENTS FORCED TO HIDE BARE KNEES

Girls of the senior class at the Lynn Classical High School who came to school on Class Day to roll back the years and become children again, were in for a sad awakening.

They quickly learned that although it was all right for them to disport as children during the Class Day exercises, they must at least retain the dignity of grown-ups as far as dimpled knees were concerned.

DIMPLES EXPOSED

It seems that along with rolling back the years, the fair lassies also rolled back their stockings far below the knees, while all they wore by the way of outer garments were short gingham dresses and rompers which extended to within some distance of the knees.

Hence the exposure of the dimples to the merciless gaze.

But it didn't last long. Soon after the teachers caught sight of the stunning array of girlish knees, a faculty conference was called, which resulted in the edict that the girls must either pull their stockings above their knees or wear flesh colored stockings beneath the drolled ones.

Reluctantly, the young ladies made their way to the dressing rooms and did as ordered.

BUSTER BROWN BOYS.

Henceforth, everything went along smoothly. The boys, dressed in Buster Brown suits, with Buster Brown collars, and other dress as immaculate as that of Little Lord Fauntleroy, joined the girls in the innocent merrymaking, and for the remainder of the day the school retained the appearance of a kindergarten.

Rome, May 29 (I.N.S.)—It was reported today that the recall of Prince Gelasio Caetani, Italian Ambassador to the United States, was under consideration. 100,000 Veterans to Honor Their Dead

ELABORATE PROGRAM PREPARED

Governor and Mayor to Join G. A. R. and Others in Memorial Day Exercises

More than 100,000 veterans of the Civil War, Spanish-American War, and the World War will take part in various Memorial Day exercises throughout Boston and adjoining towns and cities tomorrow.

The gallant surviving members of the Grand Army of the Republic will dust off their blue uniforms now musty with age, and mingle their ever-thinning ranks with the veterans of the Spanish War and the World War in observance of their military dead.

MANY PARADES.

Parades will course through virtually every town of importance; squares named in honor of war heroes will be decorated; leading State and city officials will pay tribute to records of the dead heroes; flowers will be strewn on graves; bugles will sound and the silence of cemeteries will be shattered with the crash of salutes. In short, military Boston will pay its debt of honor to its heroes.

Not all the holiday celebrations will be militaristic, many sporting events being arranged for the afternoon, including baseball, track and tennis matches.

MAYOR'S BUSY DAY.

And, of course, James M. Curley acting in his official capacity as Mayor of Boston, will be the central figure in the most impressive of the day's celebrations. In fact, from even a casual glance at his schedule, it might safely be ventured that the Mayor will be the busiest man in town tomorrow. Half the time he will be speeding from one exercise to another. The other half he will spend in speech-making.

The Mayor, according to his schedule will arise about 7 o'clock in the morning. Then, with his family, he will motor to the graves of the Curley children at Calvary Cemetery and the graves of Mrs. Curley's family at St. Joseph's cemetery.

Then his arduous day's schedule, arranged as follows, will begin:

9.45 a. m.—Memorial services of Kearsage Naval Veterans on Boston Common.

LEGION EXERCISES.

10 a. m.—American Legion exercises at Holy Cross cemetery.

11 a. m. — Edward A. Kinsley Post, G. A. R. ceremonies at Ford Hall.

2:30 P.M.—Dedication of the War Memorial presented by the Town of Hull, under the auspices of the Oscar S. Mitchell Post, American Legion, at Hull, Mass.

4:30 P.M.—Exercises at the Michael J. Perkins Post, Broadway, South Boston.

5 P.M.—Donation of $100 cup for football championship, Russell Field, Cambridge.

COX TO SPEAK.

Governor Cox was unable to arrange a schedule because of the legislative session. It is expected, however, he will speak at the Memorial presentation at Hull, and the Michael J. Perkins Post services in South Boston.

Memorial services, parades and dedication ceremonies have been announced in Chelsea, Newton, Watertown, Dorchester, Roxbury, Milton, Brookline, Cambridge, Quincy and other suburbs.

The annual work-horse parade will hold the centre of attention in the city in the forenoon. Special classes have been arranged for militia horses, city and town horses, mules, ponies, business runabout horses, championship horses and "Old Timers."

Impressive ceremonies featured by a street parade, orations at Old Calvary and New Calvary cemeteries, and decoration of squares have been announced in South Boston. Civil, Spanish, and World War veterans will take part. The parade will start at 8:45 A. M. from Dorchester and West Fourth streets.

The Kearsarge Association of Naval Veterans will meet at headquarters, No. 1151 Washington street, and parade to the Boston Common.

Jack Conway Picks Shevlin to Win Over Norton

Jack Conway, holder of the world's record for picking winners, says:

"Eddie Shevlin is my choice to win over Tansey Norton in their title battle at the Arena A. C.'s show at the Boston Arena tonight. It should be a hard, rugged battle with Tansey's youth and speed making him a dangerous contender at all times.

"Shevlin is far from being on the pugilistic shelf. He showed plenty of ring class in winning over Jimmy Jones at Pittsburgh and figures he carries enough guns to upset Norton."

Jack has picked seventy winners out of a possible eighty this year.

33 COLLEGES ENTERED IN INTERCOLLEGIATES

The stage is set for the enactment of the greatest and final act in the drama of intercollegiate track competition of the year. Tomorrow, the trial events in the forty-[illegible] annual I. C. A. A. A. A. field and track championships will be run off before a tremendous crowd in the Harvard Stadium. The final heats in a [illegible] will be staged Saturday.

The meet shapes up as the greatest [illegible] intercollegiate history. Over [illegible] athletes are entered and never before has such an array of brilliant college talent been gathered on one spot. Practically every college runner of distinction is entered in [illegible]. It is a colorful [illegible] a prologue to the Olympic [illegible] in June. Thirty-three colleges are entered.

[illegible] has been tremendous. The Stadium is practically sold out for Saturday's events with few choice seats left for [illegible]

In spite the speculation of Eastern [illegible] the West to [illegible] the same [illegible] the Eastern [illegible] West looms as winner [illegible] experts from [illegible] country scoff at prophecies of [illegible] of the track [illegible] from [illegible] California seaboard. "The time of the East is yet to come," they say.

MOAKLEY PICKS LELAND STANFORD TO WIN MEET.

Stanford [illegible] considered [illegible] over the University of California, three-time winner of the I. C. 4 A. meet, and one of the leading teams in the pro[illegible] standing factor in tomorrow's and Saturday's competition.

Thirty points, according to track experts, will win the meet, and the Californians seem more than strong enough to garner them. Pennsylvania and Princeton are considered the strongest of the Eastern teams, with Yale and Harvard on even terms. Cornell, Dartmouth, Boston College and Johns Hopkins are not considered strong enough to be factors.

CHAMPIONS NOT EXPECTED TO REPEAT VICTORIES.

Seven intercollegiate champions and an ex-champion are entered in the meet. Chances seem against the young men repeating, for the competition is much stiffer this year than in the past.

These champions are Allan Helffrich, Penn State half-miler; Edward Kirby, Cornell miler; Verne Booth, Johns Hopkins two-miler; William Comins, Yale broad jumper; Ralph Hills, Princeton shot putter; Bill Neufeldt, California discus star; Ben Owen, Penn pole vaulter. Hartranft is the only ex-champion.

As matters stand, few concede these [illegible] chances of retaining [illegible] with the possible [illegible] of Hartranft appears to be [illegible] sort of com[illegible] found to bite the dust before sundown.

In the half-mile Helffrich, defending Penn State champion will meet formidable opposition in Enck, of Penn State, who finished second last year, and George Marsters, of Georgetown, who finished third. Then there is Bauch of Cornell, and "Soapy" Watters, of Harvard, who has run the distance in 1.55.

There is some likelihood that Ed Kirby, Cornell one-mile champion, may not defend his title but [illegible] entered in the two-mile. If [illegible] enters the mile, however, he will meet tough sledding in Tom Cavanaugh of Boston College, a 4 min. [illegible] man, and [illegible] Douglas of [illegible]

CAVANAUGH, EAGLE RUNNER PICKED IN THE MILE RUN

Booth, of Hopkins, defending two-mile [illegible], looks as good as [illegible] the two-mile route [illegible] Lermond of Boston College, [illegible] of Columbia, and Helm, of Georgetown will bear watching. The two [illegible] the day.

[illegible] looks as though he will [illegible] a super task [illegible] Rose of Pennsylvania and B[illegible] of California have turned [illegible] performances than his [illegible] the favorite.

Hartranft will meet two tough nuts [illegible] Hills of Princeton [illegible] Bud Houser of U. S. C. in the shot put and discus. These men are all Olympic prospects and should push Hartranft to the utmost.

Bowman of Syracuse, looms as sole possible two-place winner in the track events. He is entered in the century and the 220-low hurdles. His hopes for success in the short distance [illegible] uncertainty, with Hill, Hayes, Norton and [illegible] Clarke up against [illegible] while in the barriers he will have [illegible] good, [illegible] Tiger hurdler and Hugo Leistner [illegible] Stanford [illegible] against [illegible] winner in the hurdles.

PLAY SEMI-FINALS IN STATE DOUBLES

The semi-final round matches in the tournament for the Massachusetts doubles championship will be played at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the courts of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club. In the upper half Eddie Porter and Ray Bidwell, former champions, will oppose Dave Niles and his brother, Nat Niles, and in the other section Larry Rice and Irving Wright, present champions, will meet Brooks Fenno and Henry Guild.

EXPECT 40,000 TO WITNESS BIG BOUT

By ED W. SMITH.

Michigan City, Ind., May 29.—For a boxing match with no title involved this affair between Tom Gibbons and Georges Carpentier next Saturday is attracting more attention and stirring up more interest than anything [illegible] in years.

The demand for seats has been so strong the promoters had to draw up plans hastily for additional accommodations. The former capacity of the Arena was 28,000, but by tonight [illegible] have seats for 12,000 more.

An excellent report on Gibbons' condition was made after he worked out nine rounds yesterday and did a lot of stuff common in training camps.

There did not seem to be a single ounce on him that could be taken off.

"I wish we were boxing tonight" was his comment, when asked if he felt his condition would carry him through to victory.

There was little activity around the Frenchman's camp, though Georges did sneak off and do a few rounds on the back porch of his cottage, at Long Beach.

That was after he had accepted the invitation of friends and gone fishing, returning with a dozen fine white fish, which found their way to the training table via the frying pan.

Carpentier looks quite a bit heavier than he did at Manhasset, and there are opinions expressed by some of the experts that the added weight may slow him up somewhat. Trainer Gus Wilson laughs at this and says Georges was never better and will show it Saturday.

Special correspondents from all parts of the country are arriving for the big show, and over a million words will be filed out of Michigan City the day of the bout.

Eddie Lane and Francois Deschamps, managers, respectively, of the two fighters, have $150,000 on deposit with the Michigan City Chamber of Commerce as assurance of the appearance of their men. There is little doubt of that, however.

The advance sale has passed $200,000, and the demand continues as strong as ever. The gate may exceed $400,000.

PRINCETON WINS 15TH STRAIGHT GAME

Princeton, N. J., May 29.—A big fourth inning was sufficient for the Princeton baseball nine to win its fifteenth contest of the season, beating Fordham 11 to 4. After the New Yorkers had thrown a bad scare into the Tigers with an early three-run lead, the orange and black sluggers fell upon O'Donnell and five runs in the fourth frame, a margin sufficient for victory.

Yale Loses to Brown

Providence, May 29.—Yale's baseball team was beaten for the second time this season by Brown, 5 to 1. Duggan, Brunonian southpaw and star hurler for the team, featured with 16 strikeouts.

FARRELL HEADS LIST OF QUALIFIERS WITH CARD OF 144

GUILFORD AMATEUR STAR

By NICK FLATLEY

Worcester, May 29.—Jesse Guilford, who won the open golf championship a couple of years ago at St. Louis, is out to repeat next week at Oakley Hills in Detroit. The Siege Gun, the lone star amateur represented in the big field at the Eastern qualifications here, played two mighty fine rounds of golf, shooting 74s on both days, and landing in a tie for this place in the lists with Leo Diegel of Washington and W. H. Cox of Brooklyn.

Young Johnny Farrell, one of the greatest of the new generation of golf stars, was the medalist, compiling 144 by sticking together rounds of 73 and 71. He was consistently brilliant and steady, and is in fine fettle to stand a whole lot of beating.

Guilford carried all the amateur hopes in the mixup and he was a great standard bearer. He was getting his chronic tremendous distance off the tees, better direction than usual, and was playing everything according to golf's Mr. Hoyle. He was a bit shaky on putts, usually the best part of his game.

42 GOLFERS QUALIFIED FOR FINAL IN DETROIT

Forty-two golfers out of the 160 who started won the right to appear in the big open, the highest qualifying score being 158. Eight mashie wingers were tied at that figuring, one being John Cowan, who pros at the Oakley club.

[illegible] other Massachusetts persons [illegible] into the finals—Dave Hackney of Methuen, who had a 153, Willie Ogg of Worcester with 156, and George Aulbach of Boston [illegible]. Ogg would have been right up with the leaders, but for an unfortunate nine on the seventh hole in his second round [illegible] to worry about getting [illegible].

The [illegible] Sarazen and [illegible] came through easily [illegible] playing their usual consistent game and [illegible] away from [illegible].

Mike Brady, who has been right on the verge of this title three different times, and who will probably win one some day, was well up toward the top and might have given [illegible] wretched start [illegible].

He took a five on the first hole owing to the well known three putts, and then attached seven on the second, mostly because a cop yelled when he was putting and caused him to miss and run by. Then he got mad and tossed away three strokes before he canned the ball.

Mike knows the Detroit course as well as anybody who will be playing there next week and he's sure to be leading or thereabouts all the time.

Freddy McLeod, who led the pack on the first day, was runner up to Farrell with 147. This tiny veteran won the title away back in 1908 at Myopia and is playing better golf [illegible] than he ever [illegible].

COLORED CHAMPIONS IN HOLIDAY GAME

Bill Leonard

The first of a nine-game series will take place tomorrow afternoon on the Walpole Street Grounds, South End, between the Philadelphia Giants and the Boston Monarchs, both fast colored teams. The game should make a good holiday attraction and will start promptly at 3 o'clock. Bill Leonard who does the booking for most of the banner attractions in and around Boston, has had many improvements made on the old Boston National League grounds on Columbus avenue.

DANVERS HIGH WINS CLOSE CONTEST, 6-5

Moakley Picks Stanford to Win Track Title

Leland Stanford, considered the greatest team west of the Mississippi, is the logical team to wrest from California the intercollegiate track title it has won the past three successive years, is the opinion of Jack Moakley, veteran Cornell track coach.

"Leland Stanford is strong, very strong. Its great weight man, Hartranft, gives it almost insurmountable strength in the field events," he said.

"Yale and Princeton are the hope of the East. Their sprint and track men must count heavily to win."

GREEN SWAMPS B. U., 10 TO 2, AT HANOVER

Hanover, N. H., May 29.—Henry Bjorkman, the Green centre fielder, captain-elect of football, spread gloom over the B. U. nine here today, smashing a homer to deep right with the bases loaded, in the fifth frame, just after robbing the Bostonites of a rallying hit by the most spectacular play seen here this season.

The Green took two runs in the first on Dagostino's single, Thurston's double and Harris' triple, and added four tallies in the fifth. Three passes, two hits and a pair of errors gave Dartmouth four more runs in the eighth. Lyon allowed B. U. seven hits, with McDonald and Burke responsible for Dartmouth's collection of ten.

NEW HAMPSHIRE PLASTERS TUFTS

New Hampshire University plastered Tufts, 13 to 1, at Tufts Oval yesterday.

Fred Lake's nine tried hard to overcome a lead but his players failed to hit with men on. Mike Crowley played brilliantly for the locals.

Tufts will entertain the hard hitting Colby College aggregation on Friday at the Oval.

Wilfred Morias, the speedy southpaw moundsman, will be called upon to stop the Colby outfit. Morias is the only dependable pitcher on the Medford college team.

The Neponset Town Team will play at the Dorchester Town Field on Memorial Day afternoon, their opponents being the strong Linden B. B. C. of Malden. This should be a good attraction as these teams played a 4-4 tie on Tuesday evening at Malden.

The Linden Club is an old organization that is well and favorably known throughout the Mystic Valley district, and [illegible] give a good account of themselves.

Neponset has not lost a game since the opening [illegible] when they played far below their standard.

SOX DIVIDE TWIN BILL; STILL TIED WITH YANKS

P[illegible] The Red Sox managed [illegible] a trifle [illegible] their standing [illegible] American [illegible] though [illegible] Sox [illegible] with the Athletics [illegible] New York was [illegible] with Washington [illegible] our boys [illegible] jump into the [illegible] lead.

Boston [illegible] Jimmy Welsh, outfielder of the Athletics, for not being [illegible] position, this [illegible] a game away from our home talent just when Manager Fohl was bagging the [illegible] of a [illegible] hope won't happen again.

SOX ARE BEATEN BY HOME RUN IN NINTH.

The Red Sox went into the [illegible] half of the ninth with a one run advantage. Strunk, who batted for Burns, popped up to Shanks. It looked as if the game was over when Bishop rolled out to Joe Harris. A [illegible] was [illegible] time [illegible] perhaps [illegible] the pass that Ehmke [illegible] Riconda. Welsh was next [illegible] Ehmke [illegible] the [illegible] he pitched three balls, then a [illegible].

His next heave was an outside curve that broke in the slot. Welsh laid heavily on it, and it soared high and fell into the left field stand for a home run, scoring Riconda and giving the Mackmen a 2 to 1 victory. Ehmke pitched remarkable ball, only two hits, including the four [illegible] knock were made off his delivery. It was perhaps the toughest game the big Swede has lost in years and the one fatal blow that prevented the Red Sox from jumping into a half a game lead over the Yankees.

SOX GET BREAKS IN SECOND GAME AND WIN

The Sox got the breaks in the second pastime nevertheless. Ira Flagstead opened the festivities, [illegible]. It was the only run scored for the contest and sufficient to give the Sox an even split with a fast [illegible] Athletics.

The [illegible] was [illegible] ten [illegible] two [illegible].

RICONDA'S ERROR HELPS SOX TO TAKE LEAD

A rank error by Riconda in the first inning on Harris' hit allowed Flagstead, and gave the Sox the lead. [illegible] had [illegible] he was edged along by [illegible] on Veach's [illegible] Miller and scored on the Harris [illegible].

New York Stock Market Prices Slightly Lower With Steel at New Bottom

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

The cost of living has gone down to the lowest point of the year. At least, wholesale commodity prices have.

The general level is now just about half as high again as it was in 1914. From the highest point touched last year there has been a drop of fully 13 per cent.

What will the final figures for May show?

Will they reveal a further decline? Or will they disclose that the downward movement has been checked?

* * *

Price fluctuations lately have been quite marked in different commodities.

For example, cotton has had a sharp rise. Wheat and corn have advanced considerably. So has pork.

These are important items in the family budget.

But sugar is down to a new low price for the year. Beef, at wholesale, is cheaper. So is coffee. Eggs also are lower.

Then there have been declines in steel, in copper, in lead. Also, in rubber and wool. Silk is at the lowest quotation of the year. Shoes are not as dear as they were. Dairy and garden products as a whole are cheaper.

Various building materials have come down substantially.

* * *

You probably have been solicited to place an order for your next winter's coal at a less prohibitive price than you had to pay last year.

In one month fuel prices dropped 8 per cent.

Price movements have been healthy in this respect, the things which skyrocketed most have been coming down faster than the things which rose least. There is not such a wide gap as there used to be, for example, between breadstuffs and clothing, nor between meat and building materials. The farmer has not yet come into his own, but there is not quite such a heartbreaking difference between what he has to sell and what he has to buy.

Differences of opinion exist concerning the probable course of prices during the second half of this year. Some authorities look for a preponderance of advances, others for declines. Those who expect advances emphasize that buying for many months has been on a strictly hand-to-mouth basis, that profits in most lines have been very narrow and that demand promises to expand. Our mounting stock of gold and money is also pointed to as conducive to higher prices.

Those who predict lower prices declare that the tendency is for wages to decline, that the peak has unquestionably been reached in rents, that labor-saving machinery and more economical transportation make for lower costs, that reduced taxes should help, and that the curtailment of immigration is another factor to be taken into the reckoning.

CALL MONEY IS LOWERED TO 2¾ P. C.

New York Stock Exchange prices were slightly lower with U. S. Steel at a fresh bottom for the year.

In the afternoon there were declines of a point or more in National Lead, American Smelting and Punta Alegre Sugar. Most price changes were small. Norfolk & Western and Delaware & Hudson yielded 2 or more.

General Electric was off 1⅝ before rallying. Wells Fargo Express sagged 4½.

With traders showing little inclination to accumulate stocks over the holiday, the main course of prices continued downward, although a few issues developed independent strength. Public Service of New Jersey moved up briskly, reaching new high ground for the year at 47¼.

Selling of low-priced oil shares was influenced by a further expansion in crude oil production in stocks. Offerings of coalers, coppers, textiles and several specialties increased in volume.

Call money opened at 3 per cent. and then fell back to 2¾.

Boston Stock Exchange was dull, in anticipation of the triple holiday. American Telephone sold off ⅝ and Telephone rights lowered 1/16, both below Wednesday's low. Massachusetts Gas, off ¼ at 71, was at a new low.

New Railroad Issues Soon Oversubscribed

In the New York bond market over-subscription of new railroad issues, including $35,000,000 Baltimore & Ohio 6s and $7,734,000 New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 5½s, absorbed the interest of investment circles in view of extreme dullness which marked pre-holiday trading. Subscription books for both railroad offerings were closed within the first hour.

Our Day of Memory

Those Who Die for Their Country Will Not Be Forgotten by Their Countrymen

In great cemeteries and at lonely graves along the countryside Columbia tomorrow will pay tribute to the memory of her patriot dead. These burial places of America's soldier-citizens are the hallowed shrines of freedom.

Memorial Day, or Decoration Day as it was called originally, is one of the nation's holy-days.

Give at least a part of tomorrow to one or another of the observances proper to the day. Take the children with you, in order that they may be inspired by the stories of young Americans who surrendered up their lives a willing sacrifice in the cause of liberty.

In earlier days, it was customary to speak of Memorial Day as one that was celebrated "from the southern borders of Texas to the pine-clad hills of Maine," and from the upper waters of the Mississippi to the Gulf. Orators spoke almost exclusively of Antietam, Vicksburg, Gettysburg.

But tomorrow will be observed in France and in other lands beyond the seas. In Lyon, in Saint-Die, at Le Mans, Commercy, Nantes, in scores of other villages where stand the white crosses in row on row, the children will deck with flowers the resting-places of brave young Americans.

Let us remember them all, tomorrow and every day, and let us, each one, try to learn the lessons of loyalty that should be a part of such a day.

Loyalty, as we will be reminded tomorrow, is obedience to the law, respect for authority, faith in our institutions, self-respect, the spirit of mutual sacrifice.

Not one of America's wars was fought by professional soldiers, but by young citizens, who carried with them into the field the cherished associations of American homes.

The burial places of our soldier dead have been consecrated by a free people as the sacred places of the Republic.

Visit them, tomorrow.

Lively Chelsea

As Full of Pluck as When Her People Captured and Burned the "Diana"

The good people of Chelsea, who all this week have been looking backward to Samuel Maverick's settlement there three hundred years ago, will conclude their week of celebration on Saturday with a parade typifying the vim, vigor and progressiveness of the Chelsea of today.

Celebrations such as this Chelsea Week are good for a community. They send young and old to the libraries and the histories. We learn the significance of names which have become common when the reason for them is quite forgotten.

The boys and girls of Chelsea have learned this week, for example, that before the communities known as Winnisimmet, Rumney Marsh and Pullen Point were set off as the Town of Chelsea they had been embraced under the general designation of "Rumney Marsh, or Number Thirteen."

They have learned, too, that for a long time Chelsea was part of Boston, and that Boston strenuously opposed Chelsea's ambition to set up housekeeping on her own account.

The event of which Chelsea is proudest, however, is the "Battle of Chelsea," on May 27, 1775.

Some historians call the Battle of Chelsea second in importance only to Bunker Hill. It had been preceded by the skirmishes at Lexington and Concord, and was soon followed by the more important battle in Charlestown.

Israel Putnam was there, and John Stark, when the British admiral, learning that Stark was preparing for action, sent an armed schooner up Chelsea Creek.

Read, in the books, how the Americans, one thousand strong, waited for them at a point near the site of the Magee Company's plant, how the British lost a number of their men, how the "Diana" was abandoned and captured, and how the patriots burned her for her iron.

Chelsea sent more than one thousand of her sons to the Civil War. Her part in the World War was in every way worthy of the earlier record.

People unthinkingly use the phrase, "as dead as Chelsea," as if it referred to THIS Chelsea. That phrase is supposed to have originated with a British soldier who lost a leg at Fontenoy, and who spoke of himself as, "as dead as Chelsea." The reference was to Chelsea Hospital, in London, a hostel for superannuated soldiers.

Our own Chelsea, and we are proud to call her our own, has given to the world an exhibition of life and vigor almost unparalleled, in the way in which she has recovered from the third largest fire in the history of the United States.

There are a THOUSAND interesting things in the story of Chelsea. One of the incidents WE like best is the chronicle of the old town's appropriation of $3,000, in 1835, for the construction of a Town House.

The Building Committee expended $3,036.33.

"And for this excess," they reported, "we ask the indulgence of the town."

By men like that was the community begun. Little wonder that, three hundred years young, Chelsea is still going strong.

Yes, Public Red Tape Is Bad

But It Isn't Quite as Bad as GRAFT

A reader sends the following United States government bulletin:

> "U. S. GOVERNMENT ADVERTISER, WASHINGTON, D. C.,
> "Address the U. S. Engineer, Nashville, Tenn., regarding bids to be opened May 26, cir. 564, for 3 yards white oil cloth about 50 inches wide."

With that United States bulletin sent as a sample of "wasteful red tape" comes this question:

> "If the manager of a private concern asked for bids on an item so small as the above one, what would happen?
> "Maybe this is why they couldn't get the bonus through before."

Sending out for bids on three yards of white oilcloth, which probably would sell for thirty cents or less, if it sells at all, does seem like rather foolish red tape. But perhaps sending out that bulletin wasted less clerical time than would have been used in making an exception, and omitting the three yards of white oilcloth from the list of things advertised.

HOWEVER, the public are comforted by knowledge that when the government buys or sells three yards of white oilcloth everybody knows all about it. You can't say as much for what happens when the government, through graft, is robbed of an oil reserve set aside for the use of the navy.

There isn't any sending out of bulletins or any notifying of the people to come in and bid on SUCH occasions.

One man takes his little black bag full of good hard cash and the thing is done so quietly that a nervous mouse might sleep through the whole transaction.

The Pledge Renewed

"That we here highly resolve that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."
ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Grandmother of Four

Editor Helping Hand:

I have read your column every night for months and at last I thought I would write and ask you to help me. I am a grandmother to four motherless and fatherless children. Is there any kind reader who has any boys' clothes, sizes 7 and 13, or girls', size 14, they could send to me. My own children are all married but one, and he has not worked all Winter. I can get along in food, but not in clothes for the children, as I have a friend who is a grocer. I would be thankful if it was in or about Lawrence so I could go and get what is given. GRANDMOTHER.

I have a few dresses that will fit a firl from 7 to 8 years, and also one organdie dress that will fit a girl 16 years, one white skirt, and a pair of white shoes, size one. I will be glad to send the things to someone who needs them. I will pay postage.

At present I am stopping with some friends of mine, as I haven't any home.

For Growing Girls

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a large bundle of clothing that could be made over for growing girls, also a man's coat furniture and clothes. I have no way of sending these articles, and as the bundle is large I could not possibly send it by parcel post. Have you a way, please, to call for these things?

MRS. M. E. F.

Thank you. We have asked Mrs. A. C. J., who lives in your town and has five growing girls, to call for these things.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON FETTERS OF SELF

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WE all feel that we are not actually the persons we ought to be. Somehow we never seem to get our real self expressed.

So we say that no one knows us truly, not our friends or intimates even, not the wife of one's bosom nor one's priest confessor.

A man has a certain character, dramatically speaking, to act. He has his role, as a business-man, in society, toward his family. If he does not stick to his part, he is thought a bit crazy; he thinks so himself.

We do not accomplish what we want to; we do not live the kind of life at all that is our ideal.

The most pathetic of failures is likewise the most common, failure in self-expression.

How can I liberate myself? How can I become the man outside that I am inside?

The fetters that bind the man inside, that cramp the forthputting of the real self, are three.

They are (1) Fear, (2) Ignorance, and (3) Lack of Will.

"Safety first" is no rule for the soul. Security is a mere sickly fancy, and not for mortal men. Human beings are born into an environment of risk. The one thing needed for their development, and the happiness which comes only as the accompaniment of development, is danger.

Consequently the main source of our failure in achievement and of our misery in existence is fear. It keeps us from peril, and in peril alone is life.

The law of liberty is the threefold law of the mystics: Be bold—be bold—and evermore be bold.

Courage, however, without knowledge is like an engine with steam, but no engineer. It means destruction. Courage is force, but force is constructive only when guided by disposing mind.

Go to breaking the laws of decency, of custom, and of the State, just to show you are not afraid, and you will land in jail, which is where you belong.

You must know when and why to break laws. You must have intelligent principles and worthwhile convictions.

Fearlessness with ignorance is a dreadful compound.

Learn what are the great laws of cosmic goodness and beauty. Learn these by teachableness, by humility, by discipline, by loyalty to the truth, alone, by disregard of custom and authority; and, having learned them, fear not to follow them.

Then you can get the horrible load off your back, take the open road and be free.

By getting rid of slavery to things, possessions, money, other people's opinion, expediency, conformity, love of praise, desire for station in life, and all such impedimenta, you can cease living like a packhorse or a galley slave, you can run and dance and play. The man inside will get a chance.

To arrive at this is impossible without a vigorous Will. To know and not to do is worse than ignorance; it is spiritual prostitution.

When the man inside says "I ought," you should not only reply "I can," but swiftly "I will."

And whoever feels he ought and believes he can and yet refuses to act is worse than an ignoramus or a coward. He is a traitor.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON HYPNOTISM FACTS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

"Kindly tell me something about hypnotism. Has it ever been used by the medical profession?"

HYPNOTISM is the art, or practise of producing "hypnosis," a peculiar form of sleep, during which the hypnotized person is extremely subject to the influence of suggestions coming from without, and particularly from the person instrumental in bringing on the hypnotic state.

The suggestions are readily conveyed through the sense of hearing, by commands and assertions, which are obeyed, or believed, and acted upon by the subject of the experiment. The latter loses self-control while hynotized, and seems to become, for the time, a mere instrument in the hands of the hypnotizer.

A significant fact is that memory during the hypnotic state is suspended, or acts only through suggestions conveyed by the hypnotizer. This failure of memory may be due to the fact that the motives for the acts performed do not originate in the subject's consciousness.

The first step in hypnotism is the production of the hypnotic sleep, in order that the nervous system of the subject may be disconnected from his conscious control. Self-hypnotism is sometimes possible. Next, the suggestions of the hypnotizer, usually conveyed through the sense of hearing, follow. With subjects accustomed to surrender themselves to the hypnotic influence, obedience to suggestion seems absolute. The subject does or believes whatever he is told to do or to believe.

The reactions of his nervous system are so far under the control of the hypnotizer that he does not feel the prick of a pin if told that he cannot feel it, while on the other hand, he feels, through suggestion, pin-pricks that are not actually inflicted. Much more severe tests of the effects of suggestion upon the bodily senses during hypnosis are often exhibited. Some of the things reported seem incredible.

An important fact is that, while probably the majority of people are potentially subject to hypnotism, but few are destitute of the ability to successfully resist the influence. There must be consent, and confidence, on the part of the subject in order that complete hypnosis shall be produced.

Moreover, those who have scientifically investigated the matter affirm that the subjection of the hypnotized person to the will of the hypnotizer is, by no means, so absolute as it appears to be, and that the stories of criminal and disgraceful acts committed through hynotic suggestion either at the time, or after the awakening from the hypnotic state, are without real foundation.

"The hypnotized person," says R. C. Givler, professor of philosophy and psychology in Tufts College, "always protects himself by autosuggestion. For example, if his arm is lifted and he is told that it is stiff, he subconsciously disbelieves it, for he struggles to lower it, strains vigorously, and may ultimately succeed. It is commonly thought that the hypnotized person will carry out, even though resisting, any kind of suggestion which is made to him.

"It is a fundamental error to believe this. For, while there are cases of hypnotized persons who have carried out criminal suggestions, it is believed by the best authorities that such actions were not due nearly so much to the hypnotizer as to the presence of unconscious criminal tendencies in the subject which were only waiting for the right cue to be turned into action."

Of course it may be said that even so hypnosis is shown to be capable of evil employment, since it is surely evil to awaken and set to work slumbering tendencies to crime and degeneracy which otherwise would have continued inactive and practically harmless.

Physcians have employed hypnotism with good effects in cases where morbid tendencies—for example, the thirst for intoxicating drink—are to be controlled or eliminated. No doubt it is often a powerful instrument for good. But nobody should ever submit himself to hypnotic influence for the mere purpose of trying it, or to amuse his companions, or a gaping crowd. Never surrender your self-control except for good and sufficient reason.
